DEFOE BROTHER DEAD

DEAD: Jade Defoe

THE brother of Spurs footballer Jermain Defoe has died after a street attack.

Jade Defoe, 26, had suffered serious head injuries in an assault on Monday afternoon in Leytonstone, east London.

He was taken to a central London hospital where he died on Friday.

A Metropolitan Police spokesman said: "We do not believe a weapon was used during the assault."

"We retain an open mind as to any motive and inquiries will continue to establish the full circumstances of the incident."

Police launch murder inquiry

By CAROL DWYER

A 28-year-old man was arrested on Tuesday on suspicion of perverting the course of justice in connection with the investigation.

Popular

He was released on bail, but was re-arrested last night on suspicion of the same offence and remains in custody at an east London police station.

A post-mortem held at East Ham mortuary last night gave the cause of death as a head injury.

Jade Defoe, also known as Gavin and Esco Bars, was popular as a grime MC on the urban music scene.

More than 600 friends and fans joined a tribute page created on Facebook.

Darren Germaine wrote: "Never forget the good ol' Redbridge College days, days prior to that and days after!"

"You were always a joker, popular with the ladies but most importantly a good friend."

Half-brother Jermaine Defoe did not travel with his Tottenham Hotspur team mates yesterday for their Premiership match with Manchester United because of Jade's death.

A club spokesman said: "It is a private matter and we await details."

Man dies in freak flood

A MAN has died and two others are missing after a car was swept away while trying to cross a swollen stream in Cornwall.

A fourth man escaped from the Volvo saloon as it filled with water, and raised the alarm.

The car got into difficulties while trying to make the crossing in the village of Zennor, near St Ives.

Taxi

The dead man is understood to be local, and in his early 20s.

A police spokesman said the car was marked up as a taxi but was not working at the time of the tragedy.

He added: "It appears the the occupants were known to each other and were out with each other. We hope that the missing persons managed to get out and made off on foot somewhere."

"We are searching for survivors."

Swine flu epidemic kills 68

THE entire world is at risk as experts warned a deadly flu epidemic in Mexico could go global.

World Healthy Organisation Director General Margaret Chan says the outbreak involves "an animal strain of the H1N1 virus and it has pandemic potential".

The global health body has advised countries around the world to look out for similar cases.

At least 68 people in Mexico have died from pneumonia after contracting a flu-like virus. WHO says some tested positive for a strain that made at least seven people very ill in the south-western US but as of last night, no deaths had been reported in America.

Meanwhile, Mexicans reacted with anger and fear at the idea that their capital city may be ground zero for a global epidemic of a new kind of flu — a strange mix of human, pig and bird viruses.

By CAROL DWYER

Tests show 20 people in the country have died of the new swine flu strain and that 48 other deaths were probably due to the same strain.

The number of cases of those struck down has grown to 1,004 nationwide, Mexico's Health Secretary Jose Angel Cordova said.

Scientists have warned for years about the potential for a pandemic from viruses that mix genetic material from humans and animals.

This outbreak is particularly scary because deaths have happened in at least four different regions of Mexico and because the victims have not been vulnerable infants and the elderly.

Body parts murder: Two in court

TWO people have appeared in court accused of murdering a kitchen salesman whose body parts were found scattered across two counties.

Stephen Marshall, 37, of Borehamwood, Herts, and Sarah Bush, 20, of Southgate, north London, appeared before magistrates in Stevenage, Herts, accused of killing 49-year-old Jeffrey Howe, of Southgate.

Dismembered

Meanwhile it emerged that the police watchdog and the Metropolitan Police are investigating whether Mr Howe's disappearance was handled appropriately.

Marshall and Bush were arrested earlier this week after parts of Mr Howe's dismembered body were found at locations in Hertfordshire and Leicestershire.

Toast to Anzacs

By CHARLOTTE SWINFELD

THE solemn silence of pre-dawn services gave way to booming marching bands and the clink of beer glasses yesterday as Australians and New Zealanders marked their annual tribute to military veterans.

Millions turned out for events in both countries to mark the 94th annual Anzac Day, a celebration named after the Australian and New Zealand Army Corps who served in the nations' famous defeat at the battle of Gallipoli.

More than 11,000 Australian and New Zealand troops died at Gallipoli, a futile effort by British Commonwealth forces to invade Turkey during World War I.

The day honours all past and present military personnel - particularly the World War I and World War II forces Australians call "Diggers" - with ticker-tape parades and services in both countries.

BUX COOKS

Hell's Kitchen babe offered own show

SEXPOT Danielle Bux is being lined up to front a raunchy new cooking show once she leaves Hell's Kitchen.

By JAMES CRISP

The lingerie model, 29, is being hunted by bosses of digital channel UKTVFood, who want her to add a helping of sex appeal to their programming.

They reckon saucy Danielle, who has 32DD boobs, could out-raunch Nigella Lawson, the queen of "cooking porn".

An insider said: "We've watched Danielle with interest on Hell's Kitchen."

"She's as red hot as Tabasco on a vindaloo and a damn sight more tasty."

"We think she'd be perfect to present a cooking show. I mean she could do all the flirty suggestive bits that Nigella does.

"And Danielle is a lot younger, has just as big boobs and a considerably smaller arse."

Viewers

"She's bound to pull in lots of new viewers for us."

Cardiff born Danielle, who is engaged to Match Of The Day presenter Gary Lineker, made it to the last four of the celebrities still starring in the hit ITV1 show on Friday.

A source close to the babe said: "Danielle has had a lot of offers and will consider them all."

Ginger squirrels pose new threat

GREY squirrels have plagued Britain for decades, but they are about to face a new rival – the GINGER SQUIRREL.

In recent years, traditional red squirrels have been dying out as the grey variety has grown in numbers. But now evolution has stepped in, the reds are starting to mutate into bright ginger versions of themselves – and they're here to stay.

Leading squirrel expert Tony Handeigh, 48, is excited about the new breed of squirrel and thinks we could see woodland warfare in the future.

He says: "I've seen one close up and it's more ginger than Mick Hucknall's pubes. But when it's angry it gets even more gingerer."

"It's also a very aggressive animal and it doesn't take much for it to lose its temper and start snarling and spitting. It could be curtains for the grey."

At the moment there are only an estimated 30 ginger squirrels in the UK but scientists say they have 90% of the same DNA as the African lion.

Abu Hamza's tiddlywinks hell

PREACHER OF HATE'S HISSY FIT OVER PRISON TOURNAMENT FAILURE

HOOK-handed preacher of hate Abu Hamza has flown into yet another behind bars rage after coming last in the prison tiddlywinks contest.

The one-eyed extremist – jailed for seven years for inciting murder and racial hatred – threw his toys out of the pram on Thursday afternoon.

Hamza, 51, is fighting extradition to the US on terror charges from his cell in Belmarsh prison, London.

The al Qaeda enthusiast and former preacher at Finsbury Park mosque entered the clink's annual competition – which runs from Thursday until the final on Saturday evening.

But madman Hamza – who dreams of a Britain run under hardline Islamic law – went mental after going out in the first round to Al-Qaeda fertiliser bomber Omar Khyam, 27.

An insider at the high security jail said: "That bloody Hamza went ballistic – he's such a bad sport."

"He demanded a re-match. He just would not shut up so in the end the others gave in, just to keep him quiet."

"Unsurprisingly he lost that too."

Accident

"In the end we had to intervene and drag him off to his cell – just so the other prisoners could get on with the tournament."

"We should never have let him enter, it was an accident waiting to happen – we had exactly the same problem with the scissors, paper, stone championship."

THE FLORA London Marathon is bracing itself for a sprint 'happy' finish.

Because Sunday Sport reporter Neil Goodwin is bidding to run the 26 mile course while dressed as an erect seven-foot COCK 'N' BALLS!

Our beer-loving hack has been training all WEEK for the event, which is due to begin at 9.30am this morning.

And after knocking fags and kebabs on the head for a couple of days he's in the shape of his life.

Neil, 29, has raised hundreds of pounds for his chosen charity, "Bollocks to Cancer!".

Watch our man run in today's big race

He'll be desperate to bring his purple-headed monster up the rear of celebrity female runners like Kate Lawler and Nicola McLean.

Donger

But he's admitted the massive foam donger might make his job difficult.

Speaking during preparations yesterday he said: "The suit weighs a ton, and it's boiling inside. Plus the oversized gonads actually make it difficult to run. It's a nightmare, to be honest.

"But I'm hoping that if I do fall over, and anyone runners sees a giant knob wriggling on the floor, they'll stop and give me a hand."

You can see how he gets on by tuning-in to BBC One from 8.30am onwards. And you can read about his experience in tomorrow's Daily Sport.

'A LITTLE CHINAMAN JUMPED OUT AND SPRINTED OUT THE DOOR', SAID SHOCKED COLIN

HOME SECRETARY JACQUI SMITH: Her department played down 'box asylum'

SPEECHLESS Colin Garrity thought he'd got the bargain of a lifetime when he ordered a new telly from China – but he didn't bargain on getting an illegal immigrant in the post instead.

Dumbfounded Colin, 57, couldn't wait to open his new 32 inch wide screen plasma TV when it arrived at his home in Ramsbottom, Lancs, last week.

But he couldn't believe his eyes when he opened the box, which had been shipped from China, and found an immigrant desperate to escape from the Commie country, hiding inside.

Before he could do anything the tiny chap leapt out of the box and fled from his house.

Colin said: "You could not make something like this up."

By ISOBEL DICKINSON

"I ordered a TV from an online electronics company based in Beijing as they had some great two for one deals – little did I know it was more Two For Wong than two for one!

"The box arrived on time and the delivery company brought it into the lounge, I remember thinking it was heavy but presumed it was the packaging."

Advanced

"I started opening it and as soon as I cut the tape over the top the lid just burst open."

"I nearly had a heart attack, I mean, I know China has some advanced technology but a walking, talking TV would have been ridiculous."

"This tiny little Chinese man jumped out and sprinted out the door, he was wearing a long silky embroidered gown and a hat."

"I was in too much shock to stop him or do anything."

okay, he must have been cramped in that box for ages without food or water."

"I've tried contacting the company but they don't seem to be able to understand what I'm trying to tell them."

"Try explaining that you found a man inside your TV box to a bunch of guys who don't speak English!"

"It's impossible. I called the police so I guess it's in their hands now. I just want to know what happened to my telly."

A police source said: "We are currently on the lookout for a four foot Chinese man running around the Manchester area wearing traditional Oriental clothes."

"If anyone sees him please contact police urgently."

A Home Office spokesman said there was no evidence to suggest large numbers of Chinese people were smuggling themselves into Britain inside empty television boxes.

COPS FOIL SUICIDE GRANS!

OAPs plotted to blow up 'intimidating' youths

By CHRIS RIVERSIDE

TWO grannies terrorised by violent hoodies planned to put an end to their problem – and themselves – by becoming suicide bombers!

Mavis Devlin, 78, and Agnes Thornbury, 80, constructed home-made explosives in the out houses of their terraced homes in Hull, East Yorks.

The pair, who called themselves Grannies Against Sodding Hoodies (GASH) had planned to strap the explosive to their bodies using bra underwiring.

Devices

Cunningly, the former cleaners planned to cover up their large home-made devices with padded overcoats, South Humberside Court heard.

The defendants planned to make conversation with Hull gang The Teeth outside their favourite corner shop and blow all 20 members – and themselves – to smithereens.

Devlin and Thornbury, both Christians, came up with the idea after seeing hard hitting documentary How Suicide Bombers Do It.

in interview to "making a cake", they set about doing it themselves.

Police literally got wind of the planned attack as the strong smell of ammonia coming from the chums' yards soon became the talk of the estate.

Police, suspecting an al Qaeda bomb factory, raided the homes and discovered the old dears' evil plan of attack.

The plot soon unraveled when officers swooped finding a file marked: "GASH Bomb Hoodies Plan".

Under police interview the pair soon confessed to officers just why they wanted to kill the unruly teens.

Giles Reese-Apworth, counsel for the defence, said: "Both Devlin and Thornbury felt their lives had been made a living hell by the unacceptable anti-social behaviour of The Teeth gang.

"They had spoken with Neighbourhood Watch, their local PCSO and even written a strongly worded letter to their local paper – all to no avail.

Hoodies

"These women were so desperate that they felt the only option left open to them was making a home-made bomb, strapping it to their bodies and blowing the hoodies to kingdom come. That says more about our society than it does about them."

Both Devlin and Thornbury pleaded guilty to attempted murder.

Sentencing was adjourned while the Probation Service prepare psychological reports.

Barack Obama shagged half of Yorkshire

LOSER'S PRESIDENTIAL NAME CHANGE NETS HIM LOADS OF NOOKIE

By OLLIE JAMES

UNLUCKY-in-love Derek Potts says he has become a small town sex god – after changing his name to Barack Obama!

The unemployed gas fitter from Penkridge, Yorkshire (pictured left) has transformed his once-woeful luck with the ladies thanks to the super cool US president.

"I was hopeless with women until I changed my name to Barack Obama," he laughed yesterday. "Now I can't stop getting shags!"

Derek, 23, added: "I was sitting in my underpants watching Obama's inauguration on TV and I started thinking, 'What does he have that I haven't?'"

"Then it hit me – a cool name.

"The next day I went into Beverley to get the official papers and within a week I was Barack Hussein Obama.

"Ever since then I've been getting laid at least once a fortnight, which is amazing by my standards over the last few years.

"It must be some of his magic rubbing off on me."

Scooter

Derek has even renamed his dingy bedsit as the White House, his new inflatable bed as the Oval Office and his 125cc scooter is now known as Air Force One.

He added: "I want to get a Portuguese water dog called Bo but nobody round East Yorkshire has ever heard of one before.

"I'm also getting really into Stevie Wonder. President Obama had him round for a private concert at the White House but I've only got his greatest hits on CD.

"Last Saturday, I pulled this bird in Woozy Nites – Penkridge's number one nightclub, where I now have a platinum card. I got her back to mine, put on I Just Called To Say I Love You and she was all over me.

"Or she would have been, if she hadn't puked up in my cowboy boots and then passed out on the sofa.

"But like President Obama, I'm a gentleman – so I just had a quick peek down her top then put a blanket over her and went to bed."

The White House declined to comment, but an insider said that President Obama had also been a "real sex machine" in his youth at Harvard University.

Bloke killed by nipple clamps

A MAN has died from blood poisoning after his nipple clamps got stuck, an inquest heard.

Rob Patterson, 45, was indulging in sex games at his London home when the hinges jammed and cut into his body.

The court heard his partner Jane, 42, tried to remove them but could not get the clasps to spring back.

She told the inquest: "Rob was always sexually adventurous and into trying new things."

Cheap

"He came home one day with these cheap nipple clamps he'd bought down the market.

"I told him I didn't want to do it but he was more than welcome so that night he decided to wear them.

"I noticed a bit of blood trickling out but couldn't get the clasps to release.

"Rob was screaming in pain, it was hideous, I didn't want to yank them off in case it pulled off his nipple."

The couple went to hospital and had the clamps removed. But Mr Patterson died later that week from blood poisoning caused by the cheap metal.

A coroner recorded a verdict of accidental death.

Filmgoer lives his life in 3D

A DISTRESSED film buff is planning to sue his local cinema after claiming that watching a 3D film has made him see everything in 3D ever since.

Ian Monkfish paid £5.60 to see the 3D version of Monsters vs Aliens last month, but says his life has been ruined ever since.

He says: "The film was great, but it must have done something to my brain because it's made everything go weird.

"I walk down the street and I can see people actually coming towards me now, whereas before it was a bit flat, like it is in the films."

Ian claims he has become afraid of living in his own home now that his vision has been permanently altered.

A friend of his says: "We've all tried telling Ian that his eyesight has always been like that, even before he saw the recent 3D film."

But Ian refutes this, saying: "No, that's ridiculous. I can't have always been like this. Can it?"

Our man loiters on a street corner waiting for the hitman to arrive...

...and arrive he does, donning shades to disguise his evil face

THE PET HITMAN

Vile thug murders problem animals for cash

GRISLY: Our man holds up pictures of the 'targets'. Right: A shot of the hitman captured on hidden camera

AN EVIL contract killer is making his living by cold-bloodedly assassinating household pets to order.

A Sunday Sport investigation has fearlessly exposed the murky underworld of the pet hitman who will "whack" any animal for as little as £75-a-head, plus expenses.

Acting on an tip off, we trawled the internet and the classified sections of local papers – eventually finding an advert for "a pet cleaner".

"Pet cleaner" is gangland slang for a gun for hire who will murder any pet you want – with no questions asked.

After ringing the number, our

By JAMES CRISP

undercover reporter met with one sick thug, who heartlessly boasted he would 'take out anything from a stick insect to a Friesian cow.'

Using highly sophisticated surveillance techniques, our trained newsteam captured the vile murderer on film CROWING about his slayings.

And in an encounter fraught with danger, we struck a deal with the hired gun to rub out TWO cute creatures, a Border Collie and a hamster, for a pitiful £125.

Guts

During the terrifying meeting, the gangster – who called himself only "Bruce", spilled his guts about his bloody work and the numerous hits he's carried out.

Butcherous Bruce – carrying a suspicious sports bag probably containing DEADLY WEAPONS – revealed how he was hired by otherwise law-abiding citizens to slaughter:

●Cats who SHAT in neighbours' gardens.

●Dogs that wouldn't stop barking.

●Squawking parrots that wouldn't shut up.

●And was even paid by PARENTS desperate to get rid of their kids' pets.

Bruce, a tall, balding man in his 30s wearing shades and a suit, said: "You'd be surprised how often I get those jobs."

"Middle class mummies and daddies get their darlings a dog or a goldfish but after a bit they can't stand the hassle of looking after it.

"But of course they don't have the balls to tell Tristram or Cassandra that they're getting rid of their pet – so they call me to do their dirty work."

Over a pint at a secret location in the Manchester area, psychotic Bruce claimed he had "a 100% success rate – or your money back".

In a strong North East accent, he said: "I get the job done, simple as. Cold, clean, professional, that's me. You hire me, you hire the best."

Yoga

"I must have done 350 jobs in the last five years and I've never once been picked up the filth. I was born to be a cleaner, I was born to be a pet hitman."

Bruce claimed to undergo gruelling training sessions and extensive reconnaissance work before making his move.

He said: "I do yoga five times a day, lift weights, meditate, do marital arts."

"I use Japanese Samurai techniques to visualise my target. I'll stake out its home for hours, days, weeks before striking."

The murderous bastard went on to claim that he used to be a gangland enforcer for a notorious Newcastle "businessman", until he went freelance after being made redundant.

Sordid

Despite his claims of professionalism, Bruce did not check our man for wires or hidden cameras, allowing us to tape and photograph the whole sordid rendezvous.

Our files are available to police.

The dossier includes pics of our man James Crisp handing the hitman two fictional "targets", the cold blooded killer agreeing the price before taking the money and photos and promising to get in touch when the "job was done".

PET HITMAN'S FOUL BOASTS IN FULL

THERE was this postman right? He required me services to deal with a small dog problem he had. The thing kept leaping at the letters when he put them through a box.

Shredded his nerves, it did and he wanted it sorted before he lost a finger – so he calls me.

I stake out the property for a week. I notice this dog spent a lot of time at the first floor window at about 4.45pm – probably waiting for the owner. Every day like clockwork – until one day that is.

I'd rented a room in a house opposite. The thing was my window faced the dog's window.

One day up he comes and I'm waiting with a sniper rifle.

One shot, one chance I had from 400 yards in poor light. Got the doggy bastard through his eyes and was away before he hit the floor.

Squeak

But that was simple compared to this gerbil in an apartment block. It loved its wheel, round and round it went – all day and night long.

Thing was the owner never oiled the wheel so it squeaked. Squeaked too loud for one of my clients who was a neighbour.

Enter me.

Swift, clean break in but I had to cover me tracks, make it look like a natural death. So I filled its water bottle up for it – but not just with water. A touch of rat poison went in as well. Did the job and no one suspected a thing.

"But sometimes the customer wants his victim to know he's been targeted. So for those cases, nothing but the microwave will do."

I put a tortoise in a microwave once – very nasty mess indeed.

Bunny

But most of it has to be subtle. One client hated his daughter's bunny, really had it in for it but of course he couldn't just get rid of it – so he called me.

I came up with a simple plan, simple but effective. I put a pointed rock covered in pepper in its hutch. Bunny sniffs it sneezes and brains itself on the rock.

Of course the most ironic would have been the ferret – I lured it up my trouser leg, walked back to my gaff with it still up there – throttled it. Then I chopped it up and flushed it down the bog. Owner reckoned ferret had just escaped – ha, ha.

Of course sometimes you feel a bit bad, the only one I really regret was this kitten. I'd made a very tiny personal landmine for it in its litter tray. But it wasn't killed outright.

I can still hear its wounded mewling. Since then I won't do kittens under two weeks old.

After all, I'm not some kind of monster, I'm just doing my job."

E - you can't do that to a bear!

A TURKISH Happy Mondays cover band could be DEPORTED for giving the death drug ECSTASY to their ursine dancer - Bearz. Imitation group Kinky Ankara, who are among Turkey's top pop earners, were caught feeding the drug, known as Disco Biscuits, to their dancing bear, Kneadlington Magistrates Court heard.

The furry animal, named Bearz after legendary Happy Mondays' dancer Bez (pictured), was found by police lapping up water from a TOILET when they raided a gig.

Kinky Ankara, who have topped the Turkish charts with their version of Step On called Bearz Gonna Step On You, were nicked while performing at top Scarborough nightspot The Bath and Whistle.

One witness said: "The band were on form when they came out and were putting on a cracking show."

"But it was obvious that the bear was ripped to the tits on E. The poor creature kept trying to hug the lead guitarist and wanted the singer to stroke his back."

"As the bear wouldn't dance the manager started cracking his legs with a big stick and you could see in the bear's eyes that he was really upset."

The trial continues.

Just call me 'Mr Big Boss Man'

A WORKER was fired for refusing to call his manager "Mr Big Boss Man", an employment tribunal heard.

Steve Morton, 26, claims he was sacked from his job at London Printers Stintprint for breaking the "unwritten law of the office."

Stintprint owner Cuthbert Dwayne-Kevinson, 48, denied insisting all his four employees called him "Mr Big Boss Man".

He told the hearing: "That's my nickname - my staff insist on calling me it, I don't make them."

Purple

"It's just a respectful, friendly term of endearment."

But Mr Morton, who joined the company in January this year, said he was "bawled out big style" for calling his chief Mr Dwayne-Kevinson.

He said: "He went purple and sacked me on the spot."

"It's obvious he hates his silly name - that's why he makes his workers call him 'Mr Big Boss Man'."

The tribunal continues.

Outrage over 'junkie' dolls

A SICK range of junkie dolls aimed at Britain's children has sparked outrage.

The Skaggage Patch Dolls are a set of figurines based on glamorous and unhealthily skinny teenagers.

But unlike harmless figures like He-Man or the Bratz dolls, the Skaggage Patch Dolls are addicted to heroin!

The £12.99 toys are pencilled in for a nationwide release in time for Christmas but the makers admit they have had not yet had any orders from the high street.

Even so, the mere idea of young kids playing with tiny drug addicts has caused a moral panic among parents and pressure groups.

Scum

Neil Keeloid, spokesman for "morality-protection" organisation A Nation Corrupted (ANC) branded the product "a disgrace".

He said: "This is an outrage, a disgrace to all right-thinking Britons hold dear.

"The scum who want to flog this tat to our youngsters should go straight to the Tower. How they sleep at night I don't know."

A spokesman for the firm that designed the toys said: "Children are more savvy than we give them credit for.

"I'm sure they will enjoy our product with a helping of irony - as was intended."

Need a house? It's a record

HOUSING boffins have unveiled plans to build hundreds of cheap new homes - with the walls made out of old unwanted seven-inch singles.

They say that the vinyl can be moulded together to make strong, durable and weatherproof walls and that a new house could cost as little as £50,000.

The singles' sleeves are also recycled and used - they get pulped and made into wooden interior doors.

Housing designer Nick Pancake, 34, came up with the scheme after visiting a car boot sale near his home in Surrey.

He said: "In an hour I saw 10 unwanted copies of Shakin' Stevens' This Ole House, among thousands of other old records and the idea came to me."

The first house will be made entirely out of old Band Aid singles and will be sold at auction with the proceeds going to the starving in Africa.

MEET BRITAIN'S MOST PERVERTED FAMILY

By ANDY DAWSON

MEET the Sputters — arguably Britain's most TWISTED family.

Three generations of these perverts have wreaked havoc for decades and today Sunday Sport exposes them for the EVIL SCUM they undoubtedly are.

Between them they have amassed almost 50 years in prison and have notched up 37 ASBOs — both individually and as a family — mostly for crimes involving SEX.

They have roamed all over the country committing their heinous crimes but these days they live in Suffolk, in a commune they've built themselves in a field.

If you want to look for them on Google Earth, you'll be able to clearly see a shed with the words "F Off Google" painted on its roof.

We have compiled a rundown

THE Sputters compound

of the whole family — led by pensioners Herman and Edna — so you can avoid them if they cross your path.

Read on and find out which one of them was jailed for sexually assaulting the Wembley pitch during a crucial international match. You'll also learn which one of them gets his jollies from forming paedophile singing groups then taking a good shoeing from right-thinking members of the public.

Three generations of same clan are all sickos of the worst order

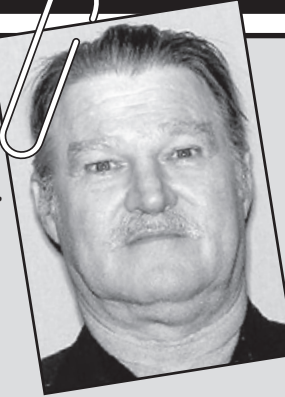

NAME: Ian Sputter
AGE: 49
CRIME: Sexual kidnap

THIS self-styled entrepreneur — Edna and Herman's youngest son — has seen his fair share of prison cells, most recently serving four years for sexual kidnap.

Worried that his burger van wasn't making a profit, he tweaked his business plan a little and introduced a brothel element.

But he wanted to stay true to his roots and insisted that anyone who wanted to avail of the services of the two tarts who worked in the van also had to have something from the menu.

But what he didn't mention was they had to eat while they were having sex and that he would be personally force-feeding them!

Customers would be on the receiving end of a satisfying blow-job while the van's proprietor would be stuffing a double cheeseburger with French fries in their gobs.

Eventually, a customer ignored the risk of being shamed by owning up to using the burger brothel and went to the police.

Once he had been released from prison, Sputter was soon back inside again... this time for driving the world's first taxi with a glory hole in it.

NAME: Peter Sputter
CRIME: Public Indecency

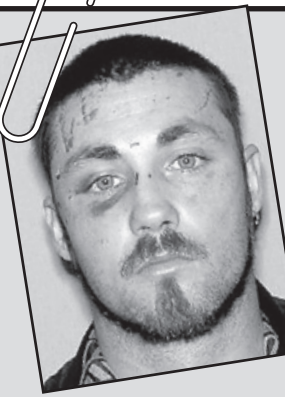

SICK 26-year-old Peter has been on the end of a good hiding in this photo — and deservedly so.

The vile pervert gets his kicks from being kicked about but he's not happy with just picking fights with strangers down the pub.

In 2007, he put together a choir made up of lonely sex offenders he met on the internet, telling them he was going to make them all into stars.

But first they had to prove their worth as singers and Sputter took them carol singing around a rough local council estate.

That wasn't all. Sputter forced them all to wear T-shirts that when they all stood in a line spelled out "We're Nonces And We Don't Care." The group had barely begun to sing We Wish You A Merry Christmas before they were chased down the road by furious householders.

A posse was then hastily formed and the kiddie-fiddling carol singers were attacked with and baseball bats, to Sputter's delight.

He was arrested and charged with public indecency after being found wing in a nearby bush, covered in cuts and bruises but aroused by the beating he had received.

NAME: Edna Sputter
CRIME: Assaulting boys

THIS 72-year-old is the matriarch of the shameful family and, like the others, she has a filthy history.

Back in 1992 she was sentenced to five months in jail after being found guilty of assaulting three teenage boys at a fairground.

At the time she was in charge of the waltzers and she attacked the boys after they insulted her.

One, Brian Weir, now 34, is still haunted by the incident and has spoken about it for the first time. He said: "We called her Hulk because back then she looked like wrestler Hulk Hogan."

"She didn't react and we thought she wasn't bothered but then, when we got on the waltzers and she'd strapped us in, she farted in each of our faces, one by one."

"It was horrible. It smelled like rotting meat. I can still taste it in my throat now."

Edna asked for 763 other offences to be taken into consideration before she was carted off to jail.

NAME: Herman Sputter
CRIME: Pig porn

HE may look like an unassuming old man, but Edna's 75-year-old hubby is renowned throughout the porn industry and beyond as a man who knows no boundaries.

Over the past few years, he has become the only purveyor of pig porn in the world, cornering the market of a kind of filth that only the strongest stomach can take.

He has over 30 pigs who star in his films and magazines and sometimes appears in the movies and photoshoots himself.

On his website he boasts: "I'll show it all — pig-on-pig, man-on-pig, pig-on-woman even pig-man-pig-woman-four-way-bollock-bingo!"

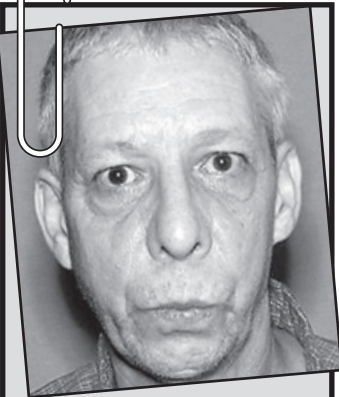

NAME: Mickey Sputter
AGE: 29
CRIME: Kidnap and lewd behaviour

MENTAL Mickey, as he is known is, at 29, Herman and Edna's youngest son.

Currently in jail for the 20th time for kidnapping and lewd behaviour, he loves to see Chinese people dance naked in mud pits.

He entices them to his house and they are then force-fed liquid ecstasy and thrown into a pit where they dance for hours.

Mental Mickey gets his kicks by sitting on the edge of the pit pulling himself off — though he's unable to ejaculate since he got his knob trapped in a ventriloquist's doll aged 14.

NAME: Frank Sputter
AGE: 61
CRIME: Outraging public decency

"MAD Frankie" Splutter is Herman's middle brother and, though he looks like a harmless old man, back in the 1970s he outraged the nation and forced the entire Wembley pitch to be dug up and burned.

A drunken Frank decided to liven up a dull friendly between England and Yugoslavia at Wembley by streaking — but he went one step further.

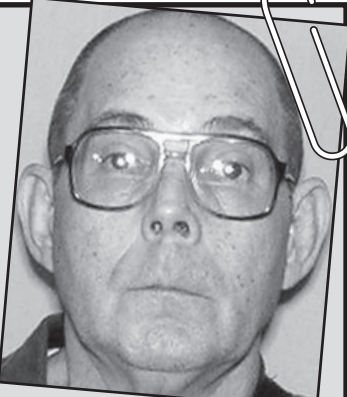

Streaking at sporting events was all the rage at the time, but no one had ever had sex with the playing surface... until Frank came along.

After ripping his clothes off, he raced on to the pitch carrying a dessert spoon and dug a small hole in the centre circle as bemused players and fans looked on.

Then he stuck his cock into the hole and started pumping away at it, with police afraid to pull him out while the frenzied sex session went on, nicking him once he had finished.

At the time, veteran football journalist Alec Gannon wrote: "It was as though football itself was being attacked by a grinning, slobbering oaf right in the middle of the home of the game."

"The grand old dame that is football now has a disease — probably syphilis."

NAME: Eugene Sputter
CRIME: Sexual terrorism

"THE Boffin", as Herman's baby brother is known, is an inventor but the rest of the world, including ex-PM Tony Blair, sees him as a twisted weirdo.

In 2001 he thought he'd struck gold when he developed a gizmo that he believed would change the world for ever — but instead he ended up with a prison sentence.

Eugene came up with the TossPower Mitt, a glove attached to a machine that plugged into the mains.

The mitt would generate electricity whenever someone masturbated with it and Eugene was keen to share his idea with the whole world.

Rather than approach potential stockists of the TossPower Mitt, he sent one to Tony Blair at 10 Downing Street, hoping the PM's vote of approval would help.

He also included a video he'd made, showing him demonstrating the machine by monking one out while holding a picture of Cherie Blair in his other hand.

The Blairs never got to see the video as the 9/11 attacks occurred the day after he posted it. He was arrested the next week as a terrorist and shipped out to Guantanamo Bay for three years.

THAT'S TATTOO MUCH!

Susan fan's crazy tribute

By CLAIRE CHAPMAN

MAD Scot Iain Burns has declared himself Susan Boyle's No1 fan after getting the singing sensation's face tattooed on his BUM.

And the 26-year-old, who had his arse inked on Wednesday, proudly said: "It's the only kind of Boyle on me backside I've ever wanted!"

Susan, a 48-year-old unemployed church volunteer, has won fans across the globe after performing a tear-jerking rendition of Les Miserables' I Dreamed A Dream on Britain's Got Talent. A film of her in action has become the most-viewed YouTube video in the history of the internet.

But Iain reckons no one worships Susan, who has never been kissed, more than he does.

The bus driver, who lives in Dundee with his parents, said: "I know Susan's no oil painting, but she's got the voice of an angel and ever since she was on the telly she's been pulling at my heart-strings, which is why I had the tattoo done."

And Iain, who's single, says he'd be more than happy to pop the virgin's cherry.

Rampant Rabbit turned out to be a barmy bunny!

A WOMAN who ordered a Rampant Rabbit on the internet ended up with an over-active bunny. Sheila Shawcross, 35, has now named the furry creature Asbo because of its aggressive nature.

She said at her home in Plymouth, Devon: "I wanted to get one of those rabbit vibrators that everyone goes on about. I looked on the internet and found a site that offered them for £15, including the postage and packaging."

"I couldn't believe it when four days later a real rabbit arrived on my doorstep."

"I've tried calling the company, but no one has answered. And, even though it's a raving lunatic, I've decided to keep it."

WRIGHT: WORBOYS IS MY BOY NOW!

‘Deluded’ Suffolk Strangler in Belmarsh prison threat to sex fiend cabbie

Rapist Warboys (left), who drove the taxi (below), could soon become Wright's bitch in Belmarsh

By CHRIS RIVERSIDE

SICK Steve Wright has declared new Belmarsh inmate John Worboys “his boy now”, leading to fears that the rapist’s ARSE is in danger.

Five-time-killer Wright, 51, who is known as the Anglia Strangler, has also taken to shouting “Warboys, Warboys” his version of Wild Boys by Duran Duran at the newcomer.

And cabbie Worboys, also 51, who was convicted of sexually assaulting 12 women and drugging 19 by pretending he had won the lottery, is said to be SCARED WITLESS by the Suffolkator’s threats.

Wright who, as we reported last week, is trying to be seen as the hardest prisoner in Britain, also calls him Forbuys after the popular newsagents.

This has led to all Belmarsh prisoners asking Worboys for FAGS, BOOZE and PORN, pushing him to the edge of a nervous breakdown!

Screws have been put on RED ALERT over Worboys, fearing he won’t last the week in an already-unforgiving atmosphere made even worse by the sadistic serial killer, who celebrated his birthday on Friday.

He was also said to be buoyed by Roy Keane’s appointment as manager of his beloved Ipswich Town and was allowed to throw a huge party for his friends.

Worboys was invited and the pair clashed for the first time.

One lag, who wished to remain anonymous, said: “Wright was in high spirits because it was his birthday. We were allowed to put up bunting and have jelly and ice cream like on the outside.

“He specifically asked for Worboys to come and we all thought that was a bit funny because the new lads, no matter what they’ve done, don’t get a look-in for a few weeks.

“Worboys turned up and started singing Happy Birthday in an ironic tone and that pushed Wright over the edge. He said ‘You little PUSSY. I killed with my bare hands. Don’t you come into my manor shouting the odds’. You could have cut the tension with a knife.

Magic

“Worboys looked like he might be about to say something back when Wright sang Warboys to the tune of Wild Boys and everyone joined in. It was magic.”

He added: “Tears welled up in Worboys’ eyes and as he fled from the PARTY Wright shouted ‘Worboys, you’re my boy now’.

“We were all taken aback by this, not knowing if it meant Worboys was going to be Wright’s bitch or if he was just asserting his dominance over him.

“We couldn’t find out, because no one dared ask Wright.”

Apocalypse nutter put cats' heads on stakes!

AN Apocalypse Now fan has been banned from keeping cats for life after he decapitated dozens of felines and then left their heads on stakes outside his home.

Unemployed dad-of-eight Kenny Jones, 55, of Darlington, Co Durham, is obsessed with the cult 1970s Vietnam war flick starring Marlon Brando, Robert Duvall and Martin Sheen, a court heard.

Insane

And, as a tribute to the movie's Colonel Kurtz the renegade US army officer played by Brando who went insane and had human heads put on spikes around his jungle lair, Jones led a reign of terror on all cats living within three blocks of his terraced home after they used his precious garden as a toilet.

South Newcastle Court was told: "The defendant appeared to all the world like a man in control, a man at home with himself and his life."

"Yet beneath that calm exterior bubbled a maniac waiting to explode and when faeces began appearing near his precious flowers, his darker side revealed itself and he carried out these awful acts against all the area's moggies."

Magistrates banned Jones from keeping cats for life and fined him £500 for cruelty to animals.

Perv had sex with geese!

A PERVERT was caught having sex with a GOOSE!

Fowl Paul Fields, 19, of Birmingham, was nabbed bonking the bird on an allotment in the city.

The unemployed loner, who calls himself Golden Goose Balls on social networking site Facebook, allegedly had intercourse with a gaggle of 14 white geese, Midlands Magistrates Court heard.

Fields, who worked as a farm hand after leaving school at 16, was sacked for "touching a donkey" and "simulating sex with a llama", JPs were told.

But it was during the last few years he developed an unhealthy obsession with geese that led to him stalk some on the Redfearn Lane allotments, befriending them so they treated him as one of their own then bonking male and females.

Fields was found guilty of bestiality and the case was adjourned for psychiatric reports.

TOURETTE'S VICAR SHOT DEAD!

By JAMES CRISP

SUNDAY Sport columnist the Rev Eddie Regis is DEAD!

We can reveal that our beloved Tourette's Vicar was SHOT in COLD BLOOD by a notorious hoodie while working on an inner-city outreach programme in Peckham, London, on Friday.

The COWARDLY gunman, who the swearsy cleric had spoken to earlier the same day, fled after pumping four bullets into his chest.

Despite the frantic efforts of fellow workers for God's Gang Is Tops (GITS), Britain's first vicar with the condition that forces sufferers to swear, died at 5.15pm.

Tragically, had it not been for a cruel twist of fate, the Tourette's Vicar could still be with us today.

Originally planning to work in Manchester's GANGLAND, the Rev Eddie agreed to switch to the London project which was short-staffed due to hay fever.

Project leader Rafe Spine was with the Rev Eddie, parson of St Aethelbert's church in the rural Wiltshire village of Hogmonkton, during his dying moments.

Faith

He said: "Rev Eddie never lost his faith, not to the last. He was coughing up blood but he looked me straight in the eye and said 'I'm going home to the Lord. Rafe, God bless, bollocks, you. Tell the, arse-splitters, lads at Sunday Sport and all my readers I won't be able to do my column this week but I'll be looking out for them in Heaven'."

"Then, as I cradled him in my arms, he drew his last breath and said 'hairy fandango' and slipped away. The rest is just a blur of TEARS and blood."

Metropolitan Police are hunting the thug who's robbed Britain of one its most inspirational figures.

A high-ranking source told us: "We know that Rev Eddie approached and engaged a well-known, high-ranking gang member in conversation the day of his MURDER."

"Shortly after trying to give the thug a leaflet about Jesus, there was a loud vocal disagreement.

"The suspect was yelling 'Yo disrespectin' me, fule? Yo dissin' me? Calling me a mongol fwit mouse-fister? I will shoot you dead if yo disrespect me again'."

"The parson tried to reason with the youth but, judging by the CCTV footage, was unable to stop himself blurting out 'cspatula'."

"We believe it was this slip of the tongue that motivated the killer to return with a gun and commit this HEINOUS CRIME."

Yesterday Sunday Sport staff and Hogmonkton

SUNDAY Sport columnist gunned down for 'disrespecting' yob on outreach project

BRITAIN'S SWEARIEST COLUMNIST

HOLY SH*t!

Sabbath banter with the UK's only Tourette's vicar

REV Eddie's column was a favourite with all our readers guns. He wrote: "I'm looking forward to it and I'll be fine."

"Gang banger capped arse cameltoe podcast!"

The Rev Eddie first shot to national fame in July, 2008, after Sunday Sport broke the incredible and heart-warming story of how he had become Britain's first and only vicar with Tourette's.

We told how the Anglican man of God had finally found peace in his battle against the swearsy condition after being ordained.

Life wasn't easy for the parson with a heart of gold — he accidentally christened one lad James Spunkbucket Whitehurst.

But despite similar setbacks at weddings, a hate campaign orchestrated by

"Fwicket bollock trousers!"

Sunday Sport Editor Nick Appleyard was so impressed with Eddie's INSPIRATIONAL attitude towards life he offered him a weekly column called *Holy Sh*t!*

But with characteristic courage, the Rev Eddie refused to do the sermons in print unless they were replicated in full and uncut, which is what happened. Nick said: "I remember meeting him at our Xmas party. He said to me 'craggy dog's arse'. I'll never forget that."

Religious correspondent James Crisp said: "I'll never forget where I was when I heard Rev Eddie had died. I was on the toilet at work having a dump. It's the most tragic thing I've ever heard

As I cradled him in my arms he drew his last breath and said 'hairy fandango' — youth project leader missed," while local man Terry Furie said: "Bless the poor sod. He did his best, didn't he?"

In his last column, Rev Eddie had expressed how excited he was to be tackling the PROBLEM of gangs and the local parish council and even an attack by hoodies, The Rev Eddie kept his cheerful demeanour at all times.

As he once said: "God made you, God made me, God made Tourette's. God just made me with Tourette's."

while curling one out — even worse than Diana though, to be honest, I was wking then."

The funeral is expected to be held next week and flowers and cards should be sent to: Sunday Sport, 19 Great Ancoats Street, Manchester M60 4BT.

Baker sprinkled dandruff on cakes

A BAKER used his own dandruff to powder pastries after running out of icing sugar.

Martin Denton, 50, claimed he "panicked" when he appeared in front of Lerwick Magistrates court, Wiltshire.

Denton, who runs Marty's Cakes in the small market town, was successfully prosecuted by trading standards officers for hygiene and false advertising offences.

He was fined £9,000 and ordered to pay £2,500 in costs.

The divorced cake-maker, who lives in Lerwick, admitted his crime but in mitigation said he was forced to take "desperate measures in desperate times".

His solicitor Robin Stanford told JPs: "My client deeply regrets his rash actions. His bakery has been very badly hit by the recession and the prospect of losing a full day's business because he'd run out of icing sugar was too much to bear."

Boffin launches home-made sex video into space

By JAMES CRISP

A BOFFIN has made the world's most ambitious sex boast by sending a home-made porno into space. Astrophysicist Dr Garry Wornes used his science skills to rocket a DVD of him bonking his missus into the stratosphere.

And the randy 45-year-old claims he gave such a good performance that alien life will be astounded by his bedroom prowess.

Garry, who lives in London with wife of 13 years Miranda, 43, launched his home-made rocket and bluey from Hackney Marshes on Thursday.

He said: "I was so proud of that shag I wanted to share it with the universe."

Dream

"It went up like a dream. I used a complex chemical combination and rocket fuel to make sure it had enough vroom to break the pull of gravity but the rocket itself was just a simple metal tube."

"Strapped to it were the sex tape and the instructions on how to make a DVD player so any extraterrestrial beings will be able to view me doing the wife every which way but loose!"

He added: "Even if it isn't found by aliens, my sex tape will orbit the Earth probably until the end of time — which is pretty damn erotic if you ask me!"

"As for my wife, she loves the idea."

"The thought of aliens looking at us doing the nasty and actually seeing it going in really turns her on!"

No show for invisible gig

A CONTROVERSIAL rock festival which organisers claimed would be "invisible" has been cancelled after just THREE tickets were sold.

The Outta Sight Festival was due to be held in Sweden and star U2, Coldplay and Take That — all of whom the crowd wouldn't be able to see.

Organisers hoped to raise money for the blind but fans saw through the novelty idea as a scam and failed to buy tickets.

Festival spokesman Lars Nickelback, 27, said: "It is sad but cannot be helped."

"As a result, thousands of blind people will probably walk off a cliff or under a bus and die painful deaths."

Masturbating can cause athlete's foot!

A MAN claims that God punished him with athlete's foot because he had a sly w*nk!

Devout Christian Antony Middin, 31, claims his five-knuckle-shuffle last Wednesday afternoon while his mum was at the supermarket is directly responsible for the nasty fungal infection.

The Brummie virgin, who lives with his mum and dad, claims the Lord saw his "dirty sin" and punished him with athlete's foot, also known as tinea pedis.

And he contacted Sunday Sport to warn other men that they risked the same fate if they had a Barclays bank.

Librarian Antony said: "I made the choice to remain pure until I was married but that doesn't mean I'm not subject to the same desires as any other man."

"Sadly, I gave in to those desires last Wednesday and, shall we say, took matters into my own hands. God witnessed my shameful act and the next day my punishment arrived — an attack of athlete's foot."

Be Special careful how you boogie

BRITISH hospitals have reported a 3% hike in the number of ska-related injuries since The Specials reformed.

The iconic band's reunion has sparked a two tone revival and seen the return of leg flailing dance moves in the country's clubs and bars.

But the exuberant boogie — usually accompanied with an arm holding a trilby on the dancer's head — has already claimed its first victims.

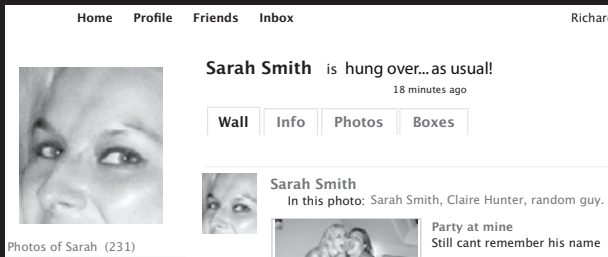

Last year three men were injured dancing to ska — all in Coventry, home of The Specials. But this year the number nationwide is TRIPLE that and it's only April!

Experts fear the epidemic is only going to get worse after band appeared on Later...With Jools Holland last weekend.

A Department of Health source last night warned: "We are urging the public to be extra cautious dancing to songs like Ghost Town or One Step Beyond by Madness."

STUDENTS EVICTED OVER FACEBOOK PARTY PICS

THE shocking sex snaps (right and bottom) that the two girls put on Sarah's Facebook page, which was then seen by their landlady Jackie — who promptly kicked them out!

Landlady sees red after seeing saucy goings-on

By CLARE CHAPMAN

TWO sexy students have been kicked out of their flat after hosting an ORGY and posting the sex-sational pictures on Facebook.

Sarah Smith and Claire Hunter invited pals to their Nottingham apartment for a saucy SWINGING night that included S&M, THREE-SOMES and LESBIAN action.

But they were left homeless after shocked landlady Jackie Burnham saw what was going on in her property and quickly told them to pack their bags!

Jackie, who owns several apartments around the city, said: "I've never seen anything like it."

"I know students have parties, and I've had bad tenants before, but this was taking things much too far."

Wild

The 47-year-old (left) found out about the wild nights after Smith "poked" her over the popular social networking site.

She added: "They invited me to be their Facebook friend — they knew I'd see them."

"They must have thought they were protected by their contract and wanted to rub my nose in it."

"But obviously they hadn't read it" properly. If they had, then they would have seen the clause that gives me the right to demand that they vacate the property immediately should anything untoward be going on.

"And this definitely comes in the untoward category!"

Among the SIZZLING pics posted on the site were snaps of blonde Sarah and curvy Claire enjoying a horny threesome. In one picture, Claire can be seen straddling an unknown man while TONGUEING busty Sarah, who was being fondled by the lucky fella.

Another X-rated picture shows three female friends of the pair getting it on with each other.

"One of the girls has been tied up with BONDAGE cuffs while a brunette

"The whole place stank and there were beer cans and vodka bottles lying around.

"I didn't need any more evidence to evict them."

But 20-year-old Sarah, from Brighton, feels badly-treated.

The party girl said: "We were only having FUN with our friends.

"It's up to us what we do in our flat.

"We pay the rent on time and the property itself isn't damaged.

"We had been planning to tidy up that afternoon.

"I only invited her to be a friend on Facebook so that we could contact her quickly if there were any emergencies.

"I certainly didn't think that she would go looking through our private pictures!

'They invited me to be their Facebook friend – they knew I'd see them' babe wearing a strap-on dildo SHAGS her.

Jackie, 47, said: "It looks like some kind of pornography.

"It's disgusting."

Other photos of the history students' party show male and female pals bonking on the sofa, giving each other oral sex and VOMITING in the kitchen sink.

When Jackie went round to the £110,000 property a few days later there were still USED CONDOMS lying round the flat.

She added: "I found one condom at the side of the sofa, three in the bedrooms and several others in the bathroom.

"I'm sure there must be some kind of law that protects tenants from being thrown out on the street.

"I'm having to stay on a friend's floor until I find somewhere else to live and Claire's in the same boat.

"We're livid."

But Jackie feels no REMORSE.

She said: "I don't want to get a bad reputation as a landlady.

"I have owned that apartment for some time now and have got to know some of the neighbours.

"It is only fair to them that I have decent people living there. It's the last time I'll allow this kind of debauchery to take place in one of my properties."

Cock-up causes Johnson to balloon

A MAN'S sex life has been ruined after prescribed drugs left him with a knob the size of a marrow!

David Will, 29, was given steroid-based medication to control Crohn's Disease — an inflammatory disease that affects the gastrointestinal tract — but suffered a rare and severe reaction.

Rather than ease his symptoms, the drugs caused his cock to swell.

Delivery driver David, from Macclesfield, Cheshire, said: "Five days after starting the course I started to feel a tingling sensation in my knob.

Swell

"It wasn't painful, so I just ignored it. But a few days later I noticed my johnson had swelled."

Less than 48 hours after that, his manhood was four times its usual size!

David added: "It had turned purple and was really throbbing.

"My GP put the swelling down to an adverse reaction to corticosteroids contained in my medication. He had never seen anything like it.

"Now I'm in a dilemma. If I stop taking the drugs I end up with acute stomach pain and diarrhoea but if I don't then I look like the bloody elephant man down below.

"And even if my cock didn't hurt, there's no way I could have sex with my girlfriend because it's way too big to get in!"

Ice Pops bring in the lolly!

ICE lollies in the shape of Pope John Paul II have become a huge hit in Italy.

Ice cream makers came up with the idea to honour the fourth anniversary of the Pontiff's death on April 2, 2005.

And the strawberry and orange flavoured ices — rumoured to be John Paul's favourite — have gone down a treat.

Maker Salvatore Savini, 70, said: "We weren't sure how people would react but they don't seem to be able to get enough of them.

"Obviously, the recent good weather has helped, but it seems the former Pope has a really lickable face. We can't imagine the ice lollies doing so well if they looked like Pope Benedict.

"He's more likely to put children off them for life."

BURGER OFF. RAMSAY!

Van owner blames poor sales on TV chef namesake

By RICHARD LACKEY

A BURGER van owner called Gordon Ramsay claims his TV chef namesake is giving his business a bad name.

The 33-year-old, from Newmarket, Suffolk, said the recent bad press surrounding the foul-mouthed cook is making people turn away from his Ramsay's Burgers van situated on a stretch of the A14 near Cambridge.

According to Gordon, business has been "dismal" and he thinks it's all because he shares the same name as the 42-year-old TV star.

Tough

Chef Gordon has had a tough few weeks after his flagship London restaurant failed to make various lists of the world's top eateries for the first time.

To add insult to injury, he was also criticised when it was revealed some of the food served at his three gastropubs and one restaurant was pre-prepared. "My business is going to the dogs and I blame Gordon Ramsay," said Gordon.

"Ever since he started getting really bad press for the quality of his food, people have turned their backs on my burger van.

"I used to be really popular with truckers and families stopping for a snack but business has plummeted in the last two weeks to an all-time low. At this rate I will lose my business."

The dad-of-two is now considering changing the name of his van. He added: "I've been coming up with new names to use and I think I will be going for Ramo's Burgers or something like that."

DAWSON TELLY

ON THE

He's well and truly off his box

I've got a face for radio

NOT A PERRIN IN THE ARSE!

I WANTED to hate the new version of The Fall And Rise Of Reginald Perrin.

When I heard the BBC were "reimagining" the classic sitcom I wanted to march on Television Centre armed with some strongly-worded placards and maybe a nice picnic.

Genius

After all, I loved (and still love) the original 1970s version, with Leonard Rossiter's genius turn as the frustrated middle-class nobody, powerless to do anything as his life passes him by.

I wanted to hate the way the remake has the less complicated title of Reggie Perrin – what's wrong, can't we deal with a long title in 2009?

I wanted to hate it, hate it, hate it... but then I watched it.

It's not perfect, and it could never match the original, but it's pretty good really. As it should be with the talent involved – Martin Clunes is no mug when it comes to comedy and he pulls off the Reggie role as a cross between Doc Martin and an older, wearier version of Men Behaving Badly's Tony.

MBB's writer Simon Nye has scripted the series too, along with David Nobbs, who has a comedy surname of course.

Helpfully, he also created Reginald Perrin 35 years ago, so he's got a bit of comedy form as well.

Suffocate

It's not a word-for-word. Reggie has been polished up and remoulded for 2009, but one thing hasn't changed since the mid-1970s – that suffocating feeling all middle-aged men get that yes, this IS fing well it – and you'd better get used to it.

Fing hell – I feel like doing myself in now.

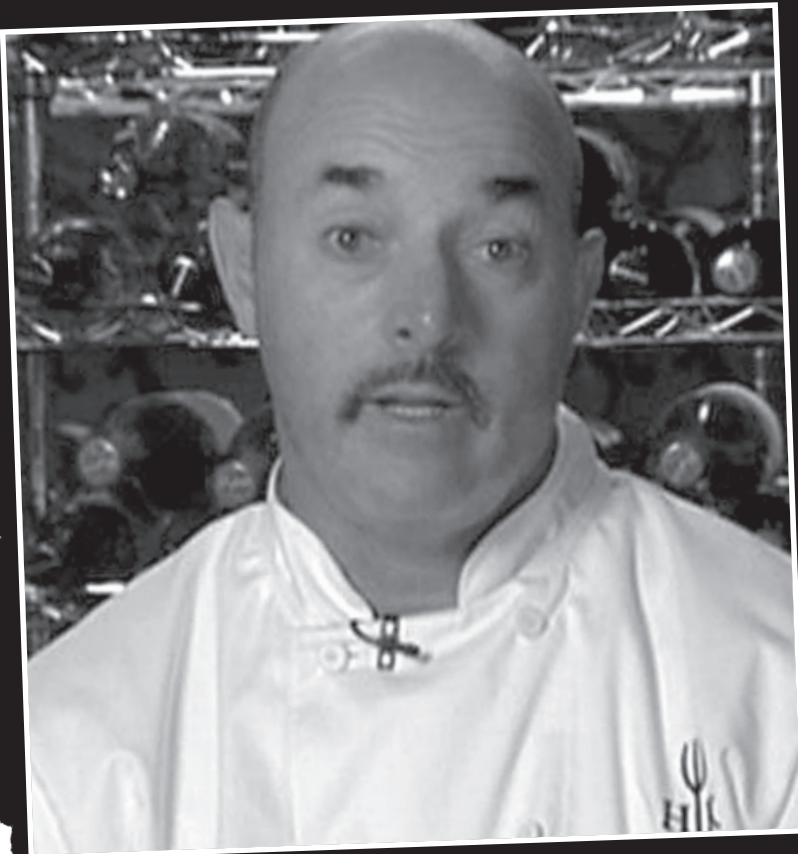

Shame no t*ts Meena

AFTER being written off by most of us, Shameless has gone darker in the past few weeks and is much the better for it.

Frank (above) lost two of his kids to social workers this week, and lost the plot as a result, going on a massive bender and ending up in an art gallery in the middle of the night.

Best bit was a group visit from the Maguires to that nasty little piece of shit Joe in his hospital bed, each one of them threatening him in a variety of imaginative ways.

Sadly, though, Meena didn't get her tits out this week so the whole thing was ultimately a huge disappointment.

Marco gets gift from the Grob

BRUCE Grobbelaar won countless honours with Liverpool back in the 80s but he walked out of Hell's Kitchen with some strong words of praise for chef Marco Pierre White.

He said: "My respect for him has gone through the roof. He is the finest chef I have had the privilege to be in company with."

What? One of the greatest keepers of my lifetime, sucking up to someone whose job it is to basically make trifles and quiches?

Legend

A football legend singing the praises of someone who is, to all intents and purposes, more or less, a school dinner cook for people with too much money?

So, is Kenny Dalglish really going back to Anfield or will he take a job as a waiter at the Fat Duck instead? Judging by the way we saw him getting stuck into a pudding in a private box at half-time on Tuesday night, it'll be the latter.

HANGING out with that chinless personality-vacuum Ben Fogle, listening to his thoughts, his fears and his dreams. Jesus, he makes me feel like spitting my own lips off.

SOAP TW*T OF THE WEEK

TARA Palmer-Tomkinson, who revealed she smashed up her telly following the death of Danielle on EastEnders. "I was so pissed off I just threw the first thing I could see at the television. I'm going to sue the BBC for £7,000," she said in that voice that sounds like a donkey being slightly grated.

That's Tara there – thick as mince and with a £7k telly that she can smash up without thinking twice about it. Just how completely fed is Britain?

Rock 'n' know-all Philip is more like bell-end Bono

AT the start of The Apprentice, Durham estate agent Philip told the world: "Business is the new rock 'n' roll and I'm Elvis Presley." Oh, dear.

This week, he attempted to demonstrate what he meant by writing and singing a jingle for a breakfast cereal ad. It was shite.

The poor bastard charged with producing this piece of musical vomit observed Philip, noting:

"He's got confidence. I think he may think he's Bono."

Very shrewd – they're both a pair of complete and utter bell ends.

Best quote came from laid back Nick, on Ignite's attempt to flog cereal using a family with their pants on over their clothes.

"They took logic and tortured it until it screamed."

MAN SWAPS WIFE FOR KEBAB!

Penniless British tourist gets doner in exchange for his missus

A KEBAB-addicted British tourist swapped his wife for a doner kebab after finding himself skint while on holiday.

Craig Mingus, 30, returned back to his Manchester home on Thursday – but WITHOUT his 29-year-old missus, who is coincidentally called Donna.

Donna stayed in Istanbul with her new “husband” Genghis Tamberlaine, who runs the roadside stall where the deal was struck. She could not be reached for comment.

Jobless

At time of going to press, a week after the swap, Craig still hasn't heard from his better half of three years . . . and DOESN'T expect to!

HAPPIER TIMES: Donna and Craig

By JAMES CRISP

Speaking exclusively to Sunday Sport in return for another kebab, jobless Craig said: “Look, she is probably having the time of her life and to be honest the guy had his own business so he can take much better care of I than I ever did.

“And I was made up with the deal. I'd no money, I was hungry, I love kebabs and my marriage was basically on its last legs – that's why we'd gone on holiday in the first place.

“This way I don't even have to pay any maintenance.”

Craig claims he had ordered the kebab before offering his call centre wife as payment.

He said: “I realised my wallet was gone – nicked. “Anyway I said for a joke “Would you take her in payment?”

“Donna, being a moody cow, went up bold as brass, snogged him and said “Yeah, why don't you?”

“He thought about it for a minutes and said ‘Okay, I single, you be my wife’.

“Well, there was no way I was backing down at this point, so I took the kebab and that's was the last I saw of Donna. But the kebab was well tasty.”

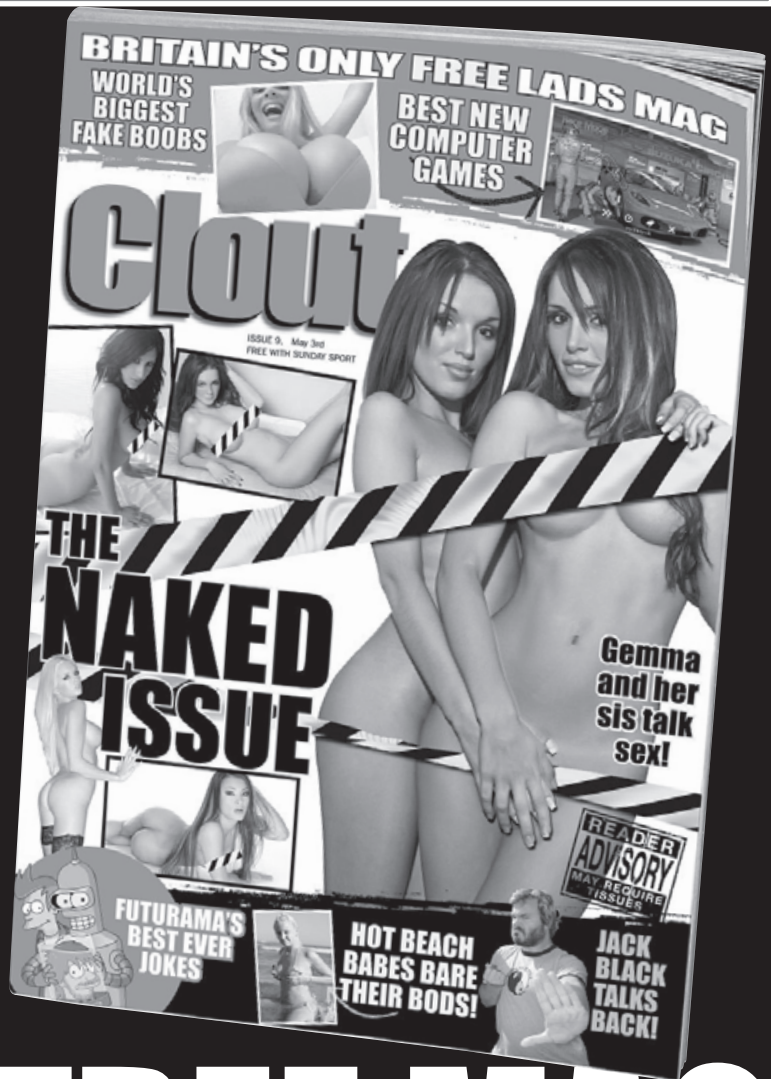

Happy

Sunday Sport visited Donna's father, Michael Trent, at his Gorton, Manchester, home.

He said: “We have no comment to make except that our girl is extremely happy with her new man and to say that that tw*t Craig would sell his nan for a kebab.”

A source at the Turkish Embassy in London said last night: “This is not unusual. Our men are very attractive to women and our doner kebabs are also very irresistible.”

Bucka-ROW

PUB TRASHED AFTER GAME SPARKS MASS RIOT

TWO people were last night fighting for their lives after a pub game of Buckaroo turned into a vicious brawl.

Tempers flared and fists flew at The Skipping Watchman pub in South London, after a close-fought match between the groom and best man at a raucous stag do.

Brutal

The tiff turned serious as other punters became involved in the fight and at least one knife was drawn and used.

The pub was completely trashed in the brutal fisticuffs which happened at about 8pm on Friday night.

Police and paramedics were called to the riot – which landlord Ged Martin, 50, blamed squarely on “a lethal cocktail of booze and Buckaroo”.

Ged, who has run The Skipping Watchman for five years, said: “We had a fairly raucous stag do in but there was no hint things were going to turn nasty.

“We keep a few board games in the place, including Buckaroo, and they asked if they could play them. At the time I didn't see the harm.

“Little did I know that an innocent children's game would provide the spark that would destroy my livelihood.

“I heard one man, I think it was the groom, shout: ‘You touched the burro! You cheating bastard’.

“There was a scuffle and a couple of tables were knocked over and drinks spilled and that was it – carnage.”

Vow

Ged, who now faces losing his licence, has vowed to never again stock board games in his pub.

The two unnamed men were said to be in a stable but serious condition last night.

I am the walrus

BEATLES HIT MAKES SEA BEASTS SCRAP, CLAIMS BOFFIN

A SCIENTIST claims that playing The Beatles hit I Am The Walrus causes walrus to attack each other to prove THEY are the WALRUS!

Boffin Jack Blackburn, 68, has experimented on the tusked creatures, indigenous to the Arctic Ocean, for more than 20 years to reach his discovery.

Loner Jack, of Leeds, West Yorkshire, has lived with the creatures, which can weigh up to 4,500lbs, for TEN years getting to their every day habits and routines.

The classically-trained pianist, who has struggled with drink for most of his academic career, got close to the walruses and was considered part of the pod before embarking on his experiment.

The former drug addict played the John Lennon - composed track I Am The Walrus repeatedly to the massive beasts, whose breast milk is over 80 per cent fat.

Fighters

The researcher claims that the cello-led song from the album Magical Mystery Tour transforms the marine mammal into fighting machines.

He said: “I've played lots of songs to what I call my 'little babies', and nothing seems to alter their mood. Be My Baby, the Crazy Frog and Cotton Eyed Joe don't even raise an eyelid.

“But once they hear Lennon's rasping attack on the establishment they go crackers trying to prove they are top dog.

“They bite each other with their mammoth tusks and try to prove they are the top walrus.

“I nearly lost an arm after a walrus bit me in an attempt to stop the music but I had to carry on to reach the end of my studies.”

She tried to comfort him but nothing seemed to make Dennis feel better. She knew their was only one way to cheer him up and Dennis just couldn't resist.

HER TOY BOY
Watching her toy boy go down on Amber is amazing and it certainly works turning her into a frenzied state. In return she puts her mouth to good use sucking hard and showing what twenty years of experience can do for a woman. She squats on him and rides his big stiff hard and deep. Experience counts!

NATURAL KNOCKERS
What do natural knockers have that silicone sacks don't? The answer is cleavage. Watch studs put their sausage between some chesty casing and make that special sauce. These naturally busted babes take on big thick studs who make their milk makers shake. Incredible.

SEX HOSPITAL
The best thing about a stay in hospital is the nurse and strange things happen at the sex hospital. Sexy young nurses soon learn the facts of hospital life sex and more sex before their shift is over. They are guaranteed to raise your temperatures as filthy red hot nurses feast on fat balls.

Mega Pack 5 DVD 40 Hours £20

IMMORAL KINKY TEENS (18 PLUS)
Anna looks great, as she hands in a college paper the professor coldly refuses to accept her work. She comes up with a way to make him see things a little different as she puts her pretty pigtail head in the old professors lap. The girl is fresh and cute and downright filthy.

THREE WAY SLUTS
Carol looks spectacular and likes to play innocent. As she works her way into a threesome she does an amazing job swallowing a black stud then she drops on her sexy ass and opens her legs. As she gets filled up she works her hips with desperate passion and energy. Dirty and perverted.

TWISTED PASSIONS
Cindy is a pretty redhead in pigtails. She comes into the room in her panties and finds old Norman asleep on the couch. She has to taste his bone, she looks great bobbing her head up and down on that big thing draining his vein and drinks from his fountain. Featuring six screaming climaxes.

Mega Pack 6 DVD 40 Hours £20

LESBIAN TEACHER
Maureen shows her tongue deep in Sandra's licking and lapping her hot spot as she talks dirty. The only thing she likes better than a tongue on her joy stick is a fake rod between her legs. Sandra screams and creams her way through and proves she is an extreme hot munching slut.

Bird brain says Bible written by a chicken

THE Christian world was in a state of shock last night after a leading academic claimed the Bible was written by a CHICKEN!

Professor Stephen Smith, 56, alleges the Good Book was penned by a fowl.

In his recently-published paper, Gard-hen of Eden, the researcher, from Staithes, North Yorkshire, who teaches at Central Leeds Polytechnic University, claims the story of Christ had a feathery origin.

Scrawl

He said: "I've seen the Dead Sea Scrolls and other documents relating to the Bible and discovered that they bear the hallmark of chicken's writing."

"The bird would hold the quill, often after plucking its own feathers, and dab it in the dirt before scrawling a basic language which it had picked up from its masters."

"The scrolls were covered in feathers and foul excrement."

A spokesman for the university said: "Professor Daley is taking time off at the moment to seek help for his alcohol addiction."

No den for 50ft nude Maggie

A HOMEOWNER'S dream of erecting a 50ft tall gold statue of a naked Margaret Thatcher in his back garden is in tatters.

Councillors in the Yorkshire village of Delton voted unanimously to deny fervent Tory Derek Chives planning permission.

They said the £250,000 sculpture was out of keeping with the character of the local area.

The businessman, 56, said: "It would have been a tasteful tribute to a wonderful woman. I'm gutted."

Toadskin

give you cancer

SCIENTISTS have proved that smoking toads can give you lung cancer.

Prior to the discovery, by boffins at California's Weston Institute, many toad-smokers believed there was no link between their habit and the disease.

Users have historically thought that as there is no tobacco in their toad-joints, they weren't risking a long and painful death.

But their worst fears are now realised after the study discovered that toad skin contains cancer-inducing carcinogens.

Relax

Toads are particularly addictive and surprisingly smooth when smoked, and give a lightly-hallucinogenic relaxing "high".

Although the habit never caught on in Britain it is popular in France, Mexico and some areas of the USA, including California.

Prof Jon Neuer, who led the study, said: "Smoking toads gives you cancer."

"No longer can toad-smoking be seen as cool or a shortcut to looking sophisticated."

"We need to get the message out to stop our children picking up this vile habit."

"Toad-smoking kills – it's as simple as that."

LEGAL secretary Isabelle Park-Dunnington dumped her husband for dressing up as a KLINGON during sex.

Hubby Lee's obsession with Star Trek had already cost him his job at an insurance company.

Isabelle, 34, of Norwich, said: "It just got too much. When we married three years ago I knew he was a big fan of the series, but it got worse over time."

"It became unbearable a few weeks ago when details about the new film started to come out."

"He began dressing as a alien Klingon and wouldn't even take the costume off for work. His boss warned him but he took no notice and was then sacked."

The final straw came for Isabelle when Lee, 40, refused to take his Klingon mask off during sex.

She said: "He didn't want to make love without it. So I gave him an ultimatum. Either me or Star Trek."

"He refused to get rid of the costume so I left."

Killed 'cos sloth was too late for breakfast

A PLUMBER faces 10 years in jail after he battered his pet three-toed sloth to death because it took four hours to come downstairs for breakfast.

Frank DiMarco, 42, bought the slow-moving South American animal from an exotic pet supplier near his home in Miami, Florida, when he split with his wife on March 31.

But he told cops that he didn't realise that the mammal moved so slowly.

He said: "I called him Ringo after the Beatles drummer. He didn't move around much at the shop but I thought it was because his cage was small."

Baseball

"But over the next couple of weeks he started getting right on my tits and the last straw was when I made Ringo's breakfast and called to him and it was four hours before the bastard got to the table."

"I just snapped and grabbed my baseball bat and beat him about the head, over and over again until he was dead."

"I'm really sorry."

A Miami Dade County police source said: "Ringo must have really suffered. We're throwing the book at this monster."

●Three-toed sloths have a top speed of 0.15mph.

STD stud bleached his balls

STUD Robert Townsend poured BLEACH on his genitals when he thought he'd caught a sexually transmitted disease.

And the 24-year-old last night urged other blokes not to make the same mistake.

Hoping to kill off the infection, Robert, from St Helens, Merseyside, drenched his cock and balls in the powerful cleaning detergent.

Brave Robert contacted Sunday Sport to stop other people from trying the ridiculous home cure.

He said: "I had a one-night stand with a lass who has a bit of a reputation."

"My mates said that I'd better get myself checked for genital warts but I was too embarrassed - so I just chucked a load of bleach on my Johnson. Big mistake."

Javelined man weds his discus face bride

THE freakiest wedding of the year has taken place in Russia between a couple who BOTH have sporting equipment permanently attached to their bodies.

Yuri Mironoff, 32, was impaled on a stray javelin during an athletics event three years ago, and spent two months in a coma as doctors battle to save him.

His new wife Katya, 27, has lived in constant pain for four years ever since a discus hit her in the face and became lodged in her mouth.

In both cases Moscow doctors thought it would be safer not to remove the objects and the couple have learned to live with them.

At the reception, Yuri used a knife that he had taped to his javelin to cut the wedding cake, placing the first slice on Katya's discus before she swallowed it.

Beer we go for nookie!

A SHOCK survey has found that 95 per cent of British men believe beer makes you more sexually attractive.

And 93 per cent of lads thought that seven to eight pints made you more intelligent.

The findings came from a poll organised by Beer Is Bloody Brilliant (BIBB), an organisation dedicated to worshipping beer. Almost all the 100 questioned said eight pints made them more confident, talkative and charming.

The actress unveils her trimmed front-bum during a SAUCY scene in recent smash The Reader – which was pulled from the final cut.

A film insider said: "Kate certainly deserved her Oscar."

"Not only does she go topless in the film, but the scene of her love tunnel is a real highlight."

"God only knows why it didn't make the final cut."

'I could really murder a Chinese'

SHOCKED cops found the remains of a Triad gangster being served up as part of an ALL-YOU-CAN-EAT BUFFET.

The grisly find came after an off-duty detective spotted a bracelet in the sweet and sour chicken tray as he ladled food onto his plate.

Staying cool, the New York police officer called his station who promptly raided the Tung Pow restaurant in the city's famous Chinatown district.

In the back they found the frozen head of Wei "Alfie" Pong, a well known local gangster.

The manager and staff of the restaurant were arrested on Friday night and were still being questioned last night.

Pole dancing is a pain in the arse!

A STRIPPER plans to sue a club owner after getting Repetitive Strain Injury in her BOTTOM.

Susie Norton, 24, says the constant wiggling of her bum as she writhes around a pole has left her with a pain that won't go away.

And she's blamed club owner Matt Robson for not giving the dancers enough breaks.

She said: "On a busy night, we might only get to sit down for 10 minutes."

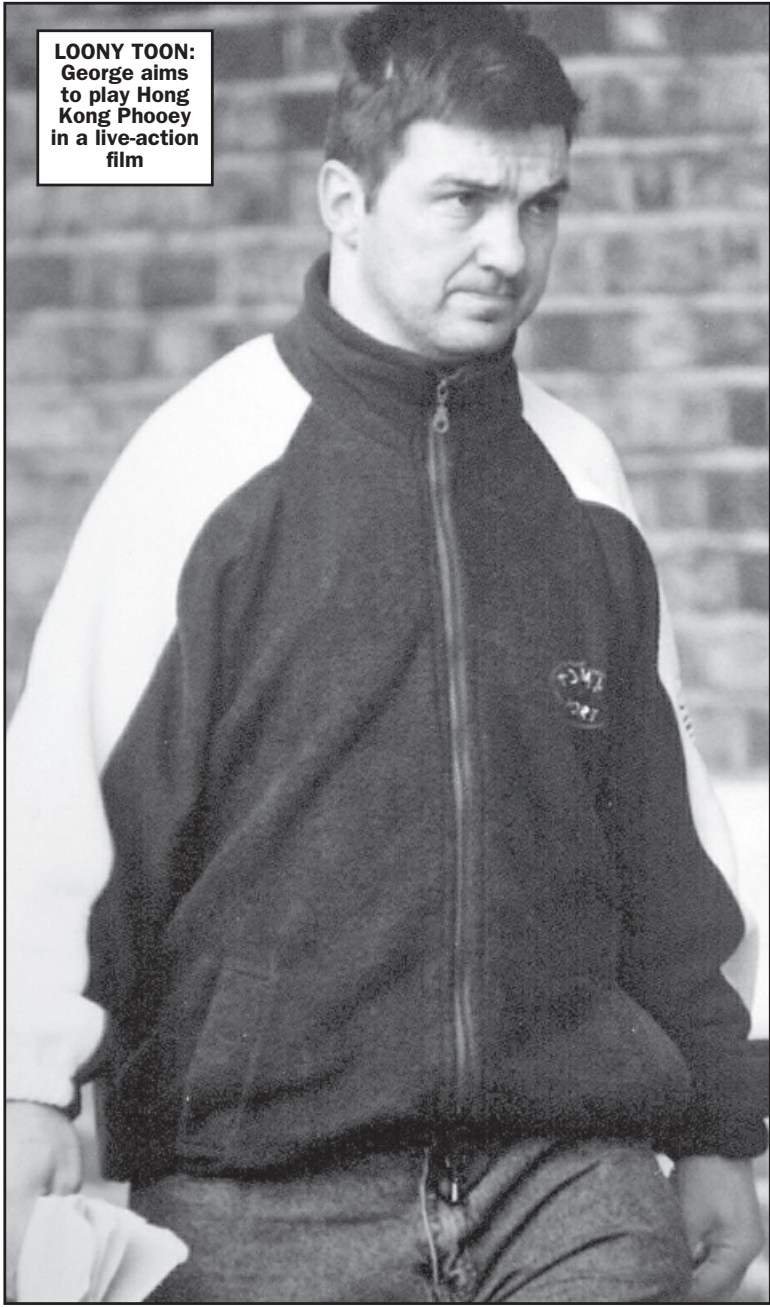

"Dancing constantly for four or five hours is too much."

"One of the punters' favourite moves is to bend over and pump your bottom up and down and it's left me with constant pain."

The Essex babe is now considering taking legal action against the Sugar Hotties club in London for failing to provide adequate breaks.

BARRY GEORGE: I'M HONG KONG PHOOEY!

Oddball plans to write, direct and star in movie version of 70s cartoon

LOONY TOON: George aims to play Hong Kong Phooey in a live-action film

FREED misfit Barry George is devoting all his time to his latest idea for fame and fortune.

He's putting together a live action film version of the hit 1970s cartoon series Hong Kong Phooey – and he's playing the lead role himself.

Not only that, but recently-released George has also written the script and plans to direct the movie, which he wants to release in time for Christmas.

A friend says: "Barry got some Hong Kong Phooey videos off eBay, and he's become obsessed with them."

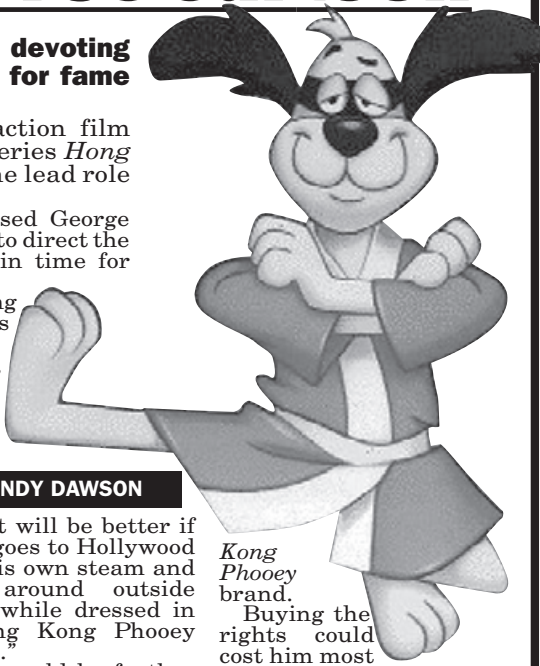

"He sees a lot of himself in Penry, the mild-mannered janitor who transforms into Hong Kong Phooey whenever a crime needs to be solved."

"No-one takes notice of Penry and no-one took any notice of Barry until he was jailed for a murder he didn't commit."

Portly George has been in training for his role for the past month and has borrowed a book on kung fu from his local library as he aims to shape up.

And he's planning a trip to Tinseltown as he bids to get the film snapped up by a major Hollywood studio.

A pal said: "Barry

By ANDY DAWSON

thinks it will be better if he just goes to Hollywood under his own steam and hangs around outside studios while dressed in his Hong Kong Phooey costume."

There could be further problems for the man who didn't kill Jill Dando on her doorstep — he doesn't own the rights to the Hong Kong Phooey brand.

Buying the rights could cost him most of any pay-out he'll receive for his wrongful imprisonment and if the film doesn't get made, he could be broke again.

CONSPIRACY CORNER

#1 ABRAHAM LINCOLN AND JOHN F KENNEDY

LOCK your doors, look to the skies, and don your tinfoil helmet to stop the aliens manipulating your brain, because today we launch our brand new Sunday Sport Conspiracy Corner. We'll be delving into shadowy secret governments, UFO cover-ups, reptilian overlords and the famed 9/11 urban legends.

By NEIL GOODWIN

And while you don't need to be a nut to buy into these fishy tales, it certainly helps. To get the ball rolling we kick-off with this remarkable look at the mirror-image lives of US presidents Abraham Lincoln and John F Kennedy.

- Abraham Lincoln was elected to Congress in 1846.
- John F. Kennedy was elected to Congress in 1946.
- Abraham Lincoln was elected President in 1860.
- John F. Kennedy was elected President in 1960.
- Both were particularly concerned with civil rights.
- Both wives lost children while living in the White House.
- Both Presidents were shot on a Friday.
- Both Presidents were shot in the head.
- Lincoln's secretary was named Kennedy.
- Kennedy's secretary was named Lincoln.
- Both were assassinated by southerners.
- Both were succeeded by southerners named Johnson.
- Andrew Johnson, who succeeded Lincoln, was born in 1808.
- Lyndon Johnson, who succeeded Kennedy, was born in 1908.
- John Wilkes Booth, who assassinated Lincoln, was born in 1839.
- Lee Harvey Oswald, who assassinated Kennedy, was born in 1939.
- Both assassins were known by their three names.
- Both names are composed of 15 letters.

Now hang on to your seat.

- Lincoln was shot at a theatre named Ford.
- Kennedy was shot in a Lincoln car, made by Ford.
- Lincoln was shot in a theatre and his assassin ran and hid in a warehouse.
- Kennedy was shot from a warehouse and his assassin ran and hid in a theatre.
- Booth and Oswald were assassinated before their trials.

And here's the kicker...

- A week before Lincoln was shot, he was in Monroe, Maryland.
- A week before Kennedy was shot, he was in Marilyn Monroe.

MY FIRST TIME!

I wasn't sure whether to spit or swallow, so I did a bit of both

FIRST HAND-JOB

STEPHANIE: I quite like giving hand-jobs and my first was no exception. I was 16 and sat in my boyfriend's living room watching TV when he put my hand on his crotch. I knew what he wanted me to do and was keen to learn how to do it. He gave me a demo and then I took over. It took about 10 minutes to make him come and he really enjoyed it. He jizzed all over the cushions and it was a nightmare getting the stains out before his parents came home.

SALLY: I was 16 too when I gave my first hand-job. My boyfriend took me for a picnic in our local park and we'd reached that stage where we were ready to go further with each other. We started snogging and my hands ended up down his pants. I loved being in total control of the situation but when he still hadn't come after 15 minutes I gave up because my hand was hurting. It was still good fun though.

FIRST BLOW-JOB

STEPHANIE: I'd just turned 17 and my boyfriend was desperate for me to give him a blow-job but I was really nervous because I hadn't done it before. I plucked up the courage one night after a few drinks and did it and was surprisingly good at it. He pulled the funniest faces and came after about 10 minutes. I wasn't sure whether to spit or swallow so I did a bit of both. I wasn't impressed with the taste though, it was like salty water.

SALLY: I gave my first blow-job to a guy I had a one-night stand with when I was 18. I was at a house party, pulled him and went to bed with him but didn't want to have sex. He suggested I try giving him a blow-job instead and it seemed like a good time to lose my blow-job cherry. I really turned me on sucking him off and felt really natural. He came in my mouth after about five minutes, but the salty taste made me gag so I spat it straight out.

FIRST SHAG

STEPHANIE: I didn't feel ready to have sex until I was about 17. Then when I did get around to doing it with my boyfriend we didn't plan it. We ended up doing it in my single bed one night after a couple of drinks. It was awful, it only lasted about two minutes and I hardly felt a thing. Luckily I'd been warned by my friends that my first time would be rubbish so I didn't have high expectations.

SALLY: I lost my virginity to a lad from school who I'd been on a few dates with when I was 16. He'd bedded a few different girls and told me that when I was ready he'd make my first time really special. We went to his friend's house party, had a few drinks and ended up in a double bed together in one of the bedrooms. It felt right so I went for it. It was a huge let down though, he came after about 10 seconds and thought he'd done really well. I was expecting it to be much more exciting and thought it would go on for a couple of hours.

FIRST HUGE WILLY

STEPHANIE: A couple of months ago I had a fling with a guy who had an enormous willy. It was about eight or nine inches long and had a good girth too. Before that I'd never had one bigger than six inches, so as soon as I laid eyes on it I knew it would be amazing. It hit all the right spots and didn't hurt a bit. I had dozens of orgasms the first time we had sex. Bigger is certainly better, I wouldn't sleep with a guy who wasn't big in the trouser department now. Size makes such a difference.

SALLY: I've only had one big willy as well, it was nine inches long and belonged to a guy I was seeing last year. The first time I saw it I thought it was never going to stop growing when he started getting a hard-on, it looked ridiculous. I thought it would be good to try it but it nearly split me in two it was so big. After a few seconds I told him to stop because it was horrible, I've had much better sex with guys who only had average willies. Size doesn't matter to me one bit.

FIRST TIME BUM FUN

STEPHANIE: I'm not against bum sex and I've no doubt I'll try it one day but it won't be for a few years yet. I was always a bit scared of it but one of my best friends tried it last year and she loved it so much she now does it every single day. It's definitely made me think about giving it a go.

SALLY: I tried it for the first time last October with my last boyfriend. I'd been thinking about doing it for months and thought I'd better try it because you only live once don't you! At first it wasn't very nice, in fact it was really uncomfortable. But after about 15 minutes it changed and I couldn't believe how nice it was. I'll definitely do it again but I'd only do it when I'm in a relationship, not just with anyone.

FIRST ONE-NIGHT STAND

STEPHANIE: When I was 19 I had my first proper one-night stand with a guy I pulled in a club. I went back to his place and it was obvious what was going to happen. We were both quite drunk and before we'd managed to get undressed he puked all over himself. We were so horny we didn't care though and had sex anyway. It only lasted a few minutes and was pretty average. I had no regrets the next day and I've had six more one-nighters since. They're good fun.

SALLY: My first one-nighter was when I was on holiday in Zante when I was 18. I pulled a lad in a bar and went back to his hotel for a chat and a cup of tea! One thing led to another and we were at it in no time. But he came after about two or three minutes and only told me he was a virgin after we'd finished. I was gutted because I'd been expecting a night of hot passion. Since then I've had three more one-night stands, I quite like them.

FIRST TIME DRESSING UP

STEPHANIE: Last year I dressed up for my boyfriend on Valentine's Day as a stripper. I saw the outfit in a sex shop and knew I'd look great in it, so I couldn't resist getting it. I sneaked into my boyfriend's bedroom without warning him and his eyes nearly popped out of his head when he saw me doing a striptease for him, and it was lots of fun for me too. We were at it like rabbits all night and it was way more fun than normal.

SALLY: The first time I dressed up I wore stockings and suspenders for my fella. It was his 18th birthday and I wanted to make it a night to remember for him. It didn't do anything for me but my boyfriend seemed to love it. We had sex in three different rooms and it went on for about an hour, it was one of the most erotic experiences of my life. I've done it since and would do it again.

FIRST TIME SEX TOY

STEPHANIE: My first sex toy was a vibrator called The Bullet. I was 19 and the lad I was going out with was awful in bed so I decided to give The Bullet a go and see if it could compensate for him. The first time I used it, it felt amazing. It was just like a real willy and within five minutes I had the first orgasm I'd had in six months. Sex toys are brilliant.

SALLY: I got my first one when I was 18, it was a Dolphin vibrator. My best friend had one and she was always telling me how good it was, so I was curious enough to buy myself one. I got my boyfriend to use it on me that night to try and improve our foreplay but it was too good and gave me an orgasm before we got around to having sex. After that I couldn't be bothered having sex with my fella, and he wasn't impressed.

FIRST TIME OUTSIDE

STEPHANIE: The first time I did it outside I was so excited. I was 18 and my parents were out so we had the house to ourselves. We were both horny and in the mood and noticed that our next door neighbours were in their back garden. We nipped into my back garden and did it behind a big tree. It was great fun because we knew if we made any noise they might hear us and my parents were due home too. We didn't get caught but the thought was enough to really turn me on.

SALLY: My first time outside was also in my parent's back garden on a rocking chair! I was 17 and was with my boyfriend sunbathing when we started getting it on with each other. It was my boyfriend's idea to do it on the chair and what an idea it was. The rhythm made the sex fantastic and loads of fun too. I loved knowing my mum and dad could look out of the window and spot us at any moment, it felt naughty and wrong, yet so right too.

POSH TEACHER'S

PORN PAST!

HERE she is, lads, the pretty young English teacher from a top private school who once moonlighted as a HARDCORE PORN STAR!

Brainy Lisa Bellamy helped pay her way through university by modelling and once appeared in this hardcore video shoot in which she enjoyed FULL and ORAL SEX in a variety of positions.

She hoped the video, made for the American market would be forgotten. Fast forward five years to 2008 and Lisa, now sporting a blonde crop, is an English teacher at a posh school which has the children of rich TV and sports stars as pupils.

But the film did not go away and when a sixth-form boy stumbled upon it he was left in no doubt that he was watching his teacher getting a damn good seeing-to — and LOVING IT!

Since then the film has been viewed thousands of times on a popular video site.

Miss Bellamy is currently not at school and one fan said: "I hope she doesn't get into trouble. She did this before she was a teacher."

BOOBS ON THE BOX!

BRITAIN'S ONLY NAKED TELLY GUIDE

FORGET splashing out on porn, you always get a good amount of boobs and sex scenes on normal telly. We've done the research for you, all you have to do is tune in and get off!

SUNDAY

MONDAY

The 40 Year Old Virgin, 10.35pm, ITV1 — Romantic comedy starring Steve Carell as a guy who's never had his legover so his colleagues decide to help him lost his cherry. Sex scenes and nudity.

TUESDAY

Color of Night, 12.20am, BBC1 — Erotic thriller with Bruce Willis and Jane March, who shows off everything on 59, 60, 62, 64, 95, 98, 107, 109, 115 and 134 mins. Incidentally, Bruce went full frontal, too, but that scene was mercifully cut!

WEDNESDAY

The Lawless Heart, 11.45pm, BBC1 — Comedy drama with Bill Nighy, Tom Hollander and Douglas Henshall. Contains sex scenes and nudity.

THURSDAY

Katie & Peter: Stateside, 9pm, ITV2 — This new series follows Katie Price and her hubby Peter Andre as they make a move to the United States. No sex or nudity but you can still drool over Katie's (or Jordan, as we know her) enormous norks!

FRIDAY

The Fiend, 2.55am, BBC2 — Unnerving stalk 'n' slash horror combines religious mania and Peeping Tom-style voyeurism. With an opening in which a Christening is cross-cut with murder, it's clear unstable Tony Beckley is not going to be fit to wear the copper's uniform he hides behind while pursuing his savage quest. Sex and nudity.

SATURDAY

Cherry Falls, 1.15am, Film4 — When the virgins of Cherry Falls high school become targets of a psychotic serial killer, they organise a sex party so that they can avoid becoming victims. It's only Jody Marken (Brittany Murphy) — the virginal teen daughter of the town's sheriff — who sees through the panic and tries to uncover the killer's identity before it's too late.

SUNDAY SPORT TV

TOP FILM

The Business

10.50pm-C4

THOSE documentaries that Danny Dyer did about Britain's hardest men were a right old pile of Tom Tit, as Cockerney folk would say. And watching him in them almost made you forget that he is an actor — and a pretty good one at that. So if you have never seen this movie then I strongly recommend that you either tune in or at least Sky Plus it for viewing at a later date. Danny plays Frankie, a young sarf Londoner who flees to the Costa del Sol and is taken under the wing of fellow Brit Charlie (Tamer Hassan), a flamboyant playboy and ex-con who draws him into his gang's dangerous world of crime.

TOP SPORT

London Marathon

8.30am- BBC1

IF you are out of your pit in time, then make yourself a nice cup of tea, put the telly on and lie down on the sofa to watch the 29th London Marathon as more than 30,000 nutters — sorry, runners — compete. Obviously, most of those do it for fun and to raise millions for charity but there are also people, like Kenya's Martin Lel — who won last year's men's race — who are in it to win it. In the women's event Britain's best hope is Mara Yamauchi. But I'm looking forward to seeing some bloke dressed as a carrot or a London bus wheezing his way through the streets of that fancy London who doesn't give a toss if he does it in two hours or two days!

EMMERDALE has been short on villains since Cain Dingle did a runner but I've got some great news, people, because... HE'S BACK!

Yes, years after absconding in a sea plane having fleeced Sadie King, Cain — played by top actor Jeff Hordley — returns to the Yorkshire Dales and... he's acting like he has never been away.

Also this week, the birthday party that Rita has organised for her fancy man Colin in the Rovers Return goes tits-up after a revelation from Paula stuns his daughter Eileen — and the rest of Coronation Street! Over in Albert Square, Phil Mitchell is still off the wagon and as pissed as a newt.

TOP DRAMA

Best — His Mother's Son

9pm-BBC2

FORMER Manchester United and Northern Ireland footballing legend George Best had the world at his feet, thanks to his amazing ability.

But the glamour-studded career of the world-famous winger was to eventually destroy the life not only of Bestie himself, but also of the family he left behind in Belfast to become a sporting superstar.

And this fantastic, factual drama follows the descent of his mother Ann (Michelle Fairley) into alcoholism at the same time as high-living is beginning to take its toll on George's career.

There are some awesome performances, not least from Tom Payne, who plays George, in this mesmerising 90-minute play.

TOP DOCUMENTARY

Child Genius

7pm-C4

HERE'S another chance to see this fascinating documentary which caught up with gifted prodigies.

These included Peter, who was England's under-12 chess champion, Adam, who was heading off to a prestigious boarding school and Mikhail, the maths wizard and spelling star.

It also introduced Georgia (above) who, at two years and nine months, was Britain's youngest Mensa member!

I don't wish to boast, but I was the two-times tables champion at my school when I was just 15 years old. Just thought I would mention that! You can see part two next Sunday.

IT'S TRULLI SENSATIONAL FOR TOYOTA

FORMULA 1

TOYOTA stand on the brink of their maiden victory In their eighth season and 127th grand prix after Jarno Trulli and Timo Glock pulled off an historic one-two in qualifying for the Bahrain Grand Prix.

For veteran Trulli, it is the fourth time in his 203-race career he starts from top spot.

He posted a lap of 1min 33.431secs at the Sakhir circuit, pipping team-mate Glock by almost three tenths of a second.

Sebastian Vettel, last Sunday's race winner in China, is third for Red Bull Racing, with Britons Jenson Button and Lewis Hamilton fourth and fifth for Brawn GP and McLaren.

It remains to be seen how strong the Toyota duo are once their fuel load becomes known, but the performance sparked wild celebrations in the garage.

Toyota boss John Howett said: "It's a combination of aggressive strategy and raw speed.

"I don't think we're excessively light on fuel, but we'll have to see when the loads are published."

Pre-race favourite Button was not too happy with fourth. He said: "We don't have the pace of the Red Bulls and the Toyotas. It's good over long runs but not in one lap."

World champ Hamilton's season-high fifth place shows how quickly he and McLaren are reeling in their rivals.

Rubens Barrichello starts sixth in his Brawn ahead of the Renault of Fernando Alonso, with the Ferraris of Felipe Massa and Kimi Raikkonen sandwiching Williams' Nico Rosberg in eighth, ninth and 10th.

Despite McLaren's improvements, Heikki Kovalainen again missed out on the top 10, but only just, by 0.076secs, leaving him 11th.

Williams driver Kazuki Nakajima starts 12th.

Magical Mark downs Rocket

SNOOKER

MARK ALLEN knocked Ronnie O'Sullivan out of the Betfred.com World Championship yesterday with sheer cue magic.

The world number 16 produced jaw-dropping snooker to turn around a 9-7 overnight deficit and win 13-11.

Defending champion and red-hot favourite O'Sullivan (below) was outplayed by the man from Antrim, who goes on to face Ryan Day or Nigel Bond in the quarter-finals.

O'Sullivan said: "He played brilliantly. If he plays like that he's got a great chance of winning the tournament."

Reflecting on his own performance, O'Sullivan added: "It's not nice to play like that but you just have to get on with it."

A thrilled Allen said: "It feels good. I felt confident that at 9-7 overnight I was still in there fighting. It was up to me to dig in and I knew the chances would come."

Meanwhile Shaun Murphy beat Marco Fu with a session to spare, destroying the hopes of the Hong Kong cue man with a 13-3 victory.

FRED IN FITNESS BATTLE

CRICKET

ENGLAND face a huge decision on Andrew Flintoff's best route back to fitness before the first Ashes test on July 8.

The 31-year-old all-rounder has flown home from South Africa after being ruled out for up to five weeks with a knee injury that needs an op.

He was playing for Chennai Super Kings in the IPL and will miss the up coming series against the West Indies.

England face the choice of either giving Flintoff three championship matches with Lancashire or picking him to play in the World Twenty20.

"It's swings and roundabouts," said Lancashire chief executive, Jim Cumbes.

Rockford Files a winner at Prenton Park

SEEING as how Hull City might soon be slipping through the trapdoor into the Fizzy Pop League, I thought it best to take a look at lower division football in anticipation of next season.

So a couple of weeks ago I went with my mate Steve and 5,000 other willing victims to see Tranmere play Hereford at Prenton Park on a draughty Monday night.

The match itself was OK, a home win, a sending-off and a nice cup of beef tea, but the most amusing part of it for me was Tranmere's 'run out' music – The Rockford Files!

Now, I've heard some odd choices of music over the years – Crewe Alexandra coming out to 'Simply The Best', Sheffield Utd setting their boots on stun to 'Theme From Star Wars'.

Perhaps the maddest one was Leyton Orient using Herb Alpert's Tijuana Brass, which made you think you were stood in a Spanish orange grove rather than a freezing cold tin shed in a sh'tty corner of East London.

But The Rockford Files tops the lot!

And even though it's an ace bit of classic wiggly keyboard 70s soundtrack, I was struggling to find any connection between a bunch of scousers and a square-jawed private investigator who lived in a mobile home and wore tacky tan-coloured jackets.

Was it in reply to their neighbours at Goodison Park using Z Cars? Were they trying to up the ante by going all glamorous and trans-Atlantic? Did James Garner have a poster of John Aldridge in his mobile home?

The real reason turned out to be a bit more obvious. The feller who used to put the records on at Prenton Park once stuck it on during a particularly barren run and Tranmere won the match convincingly.

So he played it the next week and the week after, and they kept winning. He didn't play it for the next game and they lost. So naturally it made a comeback and it's stuck ever since.

It strikes me that other teams should take a leaf out of Tranmere's book and adopt a TV Crime Fighting Theme Tune as their music to run out to.

It's a lot more amusing than the standard sh'te most clubs use, which is either some 'modern' techno nonsense like Fatboy Slim, or some dreary 'ironic' dirge from years ago like Stoke's 'Delilah'.

The theme tunes from the TV cop shows were fantastic – imagine Millwall running out to the belligerent cockney foot stomp of 'The Sweeney', or Blackpool coming out to that stirring seaside classic 'Hawaii Five-O'.

What about Newcastle Utd? They could do with some pre-match inspiration. Let's have a think – Alan Shearer and Ian Dowie, two wise-cracking young buckos who have to solve a difficult case and usually only have 48 hours to save the day?

It's obvious innit! Send the Magpies out to 'Starsky and Hutch' and watch the results roll in.

There's loads more, when you think about it. Oxford United had a brief and embarrassing period when they used a Gary Glitter track. What better way to redeem themselves than to adopt the wistful yet gently stirring strains of the closing credits to Inspector Morse?

Halifax Town, who also used a tune by the Bacofoil-clad Border Botherer, could wipe the slate clean by emerging from the tunnel all jaunty and upbeat to the theme from Heartbeat.

West Brom could have the theme tune to Colombo, cos they don't have a clue.

But I must admit I'm struggling to think of a suitable TV crime fighting theme that Hull City could use in their final bid for continued Premier League football.

Hang on a minute, though, let's have a look at this fixture list and study the final few games – Liverpool, Aston Villa, Man Utd.

Well it's obvious, isn't it? It has to be 'Mission Impossible'.

The inside word on football

Yellow hell for Fellaini

MAROUANE FELLAINI has vowed to play with his hands in his pockets to safeguard his Wembley dream.

The 21-year-old midfielder has helped Everton reach the FA Cup final.

But Belgium international Fellaini, the Premier League's most-cautioned player with 13 yellow cards this season, fears missing the Wembley showdown with Chelsea through suspension.

He said: "If I get 15 yellows I will be banned for three games. It is in my best interests to keep my hands in my pockets for the next few weeks."

Angola in for Scolari

EX-CHELSEA boss Luiz Felipe Scolari is wanted by Angola to become their national coach.

Big Phil, axed by the Blues two months ago, led Brazil to the 2002 World Cup and also managed Portugal.

Angola now want the Brazilian, 60, to be in charge of their side when they host the African Nations Cup next year.

The former Portuguese colony fired previous manager Mabi De Almeida last week.

Harry's Bast bet

TOTTENHAM are eyeing an £8million summer move for Brazilian wing wizard Michel Bastos.

The Lille star, 25, is in line to be named the French first division's player of the season after scoring 13 goals and setting up eight more.

And Spurs boss Harry Redknapp had him watched in Lille's 2-1 defeat at St Etienne last weekend.

Bou battle

ANDERLECHT star Mbark Boussoufa has opened the door to a move to Aston Villa.

But boss Martin O'Neill will have to battle with Arsenal to land the £5million-rated Morocco midfielder.

Former Chelsea junior Boussoufa has inspired his Belgian club to the top of their league.

Ars tips Gibbs for England big time

ARSENAL boss Arsene Wenger reckons Kieran Gibbs has outstanding potential and can one day become a regular in the England side.

The 19-year-old left-back has been thrust into the starting line-up following an injury to Gael Clichy, who faces a race against time to be fit for the second leg of the Champions League semi-final against Manchester United.

"I believe that Kieran Gibbs has been outstanding since he came into the team," said Wenger.

"You have a very promising young left-back for England in Kieran

Gibbs. I will trust Gibbs because he is an intelligent boy.

"This is where you are happy that you play these boys in the Carling Cup because they have played in games."

Gibbs said: "It is what I have been waiting for and hopefully it will add to my experience because of course I am still learning."

Middlesbrough boss Gareth Southgate has warned some of his players they might lose their best chance of regular Premier League football if they cannot avoid relegation.

Southgate said: "For some of them, it might be the best opportunity they have of playing Premier League football, to stay in it with this club.

"We needn't think we are too good to play in the Championship because at the moment we are in one of the relegation places so, collectively, we haven't performed.

"We have got to make sure we try to rectify that over the next few matches.

"Our focus is can we get the results we need to keep us in the Premier League?"

"For our players, that's all they need to concern themselves with."

WE MUST LEAP TO DEFENCE, SAYS NIC

NICOLAS ANELKA has warned his Chelsea team-mates that they'll have to be at their very best to see off Barcelona's amazing attacking threat.

The Londoners face Barca in the first leg of their Champions League semi-final on Tuesday night and Anelka is worried about conceding an early goal.

Guus Hiddink's side will be without suspended left-back Ashley Cole and Jose Bosingwa looks set for the job of trying to keep flying winger Lionel Messi under control.

Chelsea conceded four goals at home against Liverpool in the quarter-final second leg and were 2-0 down at half-time before fighting back to draw 4-4 and win 7-5 on aggregate. And Anelka is adamant Chelsea cannot afford to be that sloppy in the Nou Camp.

He said: "Against a team like Barcelona and the players they have, if we concede early goals it will be very difficult to come back, especially away from home, so as a team we will certainly have to be more focused on the defensive side of our game."

The France international believes there will only be an advantage in the return leg at Stamford Bridge if they return from Spain with a good result.

"It is important to get a good result in the first match," said Anelka. "If you lose that one by a big score the tie is almost finished. So it is very important for us to get something from the Nou Camp."

"If you want to win this trophy you know you will have to be able to beat a lot of very good teams."

"We have already beaten Juventus and Liverpool, who are both big sides, we know we can do it, so now we have to beat Barcelona."

For the second straight season, there are three English sides in the last four and Anelka maintains that such consistency proves that the Premier League is the best in the world.

"It's the strongest league in the world," he added. "Almost all the biggest stars in football play in England and that's why there are three English teams still in the competition. I think there is something special about playing in England and the Premier League is definitely something special."

BLACKBURN V WIGAN
KICK OFF 4PM TODAY - LIVE ON SKY SPORTS 1

ZAK'LL DO FOR BRU

AMR ZAKI returns from the wilderness and Wigan boss Steve Bruce has backed the Egyptian to make hay while the sun shines.

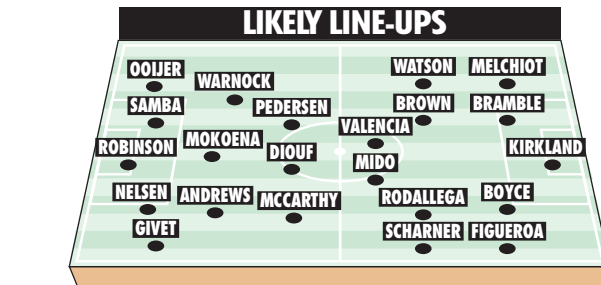

Zaki (left) felt the wrath of his manager last month after reporting back late from international duty for the fourth time this season, but has been welcomed in from the cold after performing well in training this week.

Wigan's top scorer is without a goal in open play since last October's brace at Liverpool, but is set for a place on the bench at Ewood Park after fully recovering from a hamstring problem.

Bruce says the small size of his squad played a part in him forgiving the player but insists the slate has been wiped clean.

"It was a huge problem for a club like ours because we haven't got six centre-forwards which would allow us to let him stay in Egypt," said Bruce.

"It was a big disappointment for us, of course it was, but it's over and done with now and the one thing I will do is give credit where it's due.

"He has trained like Zaki again this week and whether that's because the sun's come out I don't know, but it's a factor.

"He struggled with the winter and the conditions over here compared to what he's used to.

"If I left him out completely I would be cutting my nose off to spite my face. We haven't got enough players to do that."

Sam Allardyce claims revolutionary proposals put forward by Bolton chairman Phil Gartside would be bad for the game.

Gartside's idea is for a two-tier

Premier League with the Old Firm clubs included, with just one club being relegated each season to the Football League.

But Blackburn boss Allardyce said: "From what I have heard I'm not in favour of it.

"From a personal point of view I believe we should keep all football as active and positive as we possibly can.

"We have to consider what might happen to Scottish football if Celtic and Rangers came in to the Premier League.

ADAM RUNDLE clinched a point for Rochdale to confirm their place in the play-offs in the final League game at Kenilworth Road.

Tom Craddock had given already relegated Luton the lead from the penalty spot after 33 minutes after Rochdale defender Rory McArdle had fouled Asa Hall. But Rundle popped up to level after 59 minutes.

STAR OF THE MATCH: Adam Rundle, Rochdale

DONKEY OF THE MATCH: Rory McArdle, Rochdale

MACCLESFIELD 2

BARNET 1

KRISTIAN DENNIS came off the bench to fire home a late winner for Macclesfield.

Defender Nathaniel Brown had opened the scoring for the home side after only two minutes. The defender powered a header into the top right hand corner. Barnet equalised courtesy of an Albert Adomah finish, but Dennis clinched the points.

STAR OF THE MATCH: Kristian Dennis, Macc

DONKEY OF THE MATCH: Max Porter, Barnet

NOTTS CO 0

DAGENHAM 3

MATT RITCHIE bagged two goals for Dagenham, moving them one step closer to promotion.

By half-time it was 2-0 to the Daggers after Matt Ritchie scored against the run of play.

STAR OF THE MATCH: Matt Ritchie, Dagenham

DONKEY OF THE MATCH: Myles Weston, Notts County

LINCOLN 0

PAUL SIMPSON'S Shrewsbury still have a chance of making the play-offs despite being held by Lincoln.

Shrews dominated early on with Kelvin Langmead and Grant Holt trying their luck, before Holt again forced Robert Burch into a fine save before the break.

Nick Chadwick fired wide from close range, but neither side could find the breakthrough.

STAR OF THE MATCH: Grant Holt, Shrewsbury

DONKEY OF THE MATCH: A Brown, Lincoln

NICE ONE NEV: Nevland and Johnson wheel away in delight

BY SAM THWAITES

FULHAM'S dream of European football moved a step closer thanks to a first-half winner from sub Erik Nevland.

Nevland, on for the injured Bobby Zamora, scored the decisive goal in the 29th minute when he collected a return pass from Andrew Johnson to fire home from eight yards.

Boss Roy Hodgson insists he would be honoured if Fulham could secure a place in Europe next season, but he isn't getting excited about the prospect just yet.

"It would be a great honour and a tribute to the work the players have put in this year if they could sneak this seventh place," said Hodgson. "But the competition for that place is still very strong. We can't rule out Manchester City, Tottenham, Wigan and West Ham.

"Any one of those four, plus ourselves, can take that seventh place and it will all depend on who can keep their season going to the death and get the right results.

"There is no guarantee we will be in top seven in four games time. A lot can happen in that time. We have got a tough programme with Everton and Aston Villa and Chelsea and Newcastle away. So I think this victory was important for us to bring us up to 47 points because it distances us from some of the teams around the middle of the table."

Pleased

Fulham lost strikers Bobby Zamora and Andrew Johnson through injury in the opening half-hour, but Hodgson was pleased with the performances of their replacements – matchwinner

Nevland and Diomansy Kamara. "I was really delighted that we won it after losing our two front players as early as we did," added Hodgson.

"Bobby was fine on Friday but apparently damaged his back yesterday doing something quite menial.

"It was great for Erik when he got a chance to make the goal and take it as well."

Stoke boss Tony Pulis admits it was not a game full of chances, but he remains desperate for the side to reach 40 points and ensure their top flight survival.

"It was a very tight game," said Pulis. "I don't think both teams

WEST BROM 3 SUNDERLAND 0

CHRIS BRUNT continued his hot streak of form as West Brom won their first game in 12 and left Sunderland boss Ricky Sbragia fuming.

The Northern Ireland international struck the decisive second goal – his fourth in the last three games – after Jonas Olsson had broken the deadlock.

Juan Carlos Menseguez's first goal for the club put the icing on the cake for Albion.

The Black Cats slumped to their fifth defeat in the last six games to leave them still involved in a battle to stay in the Premier League.

Poor

Sbragia said: "We were so poor overall. We seemed to have 11 individuals out there. West Brom played very well and caused us problems and we got what we deserved – absolutely nothing.

"It is hard to explain the way we played. Last week we were committed and worked very hard against Hull and were very difficult to beat.

"We were nothing like that here and the players were told in no uncertain terms after the game that it was not good enough. It was not acceptable.

"We didn't turn up. Our decision making was poor. We didn't raise the tempo of the game and the second and third goals were down to bad defending.

"We were well short all over the pitch. I feel sorry for the fans because in the last week they have seen two different sides to us.

"This was the worst side and we look disinterested."

Albion boss Mowbray admits his side are unlikely to survive in the top flight, but he is refusing to give up hope.

He said: "For me it is about the next game, not the bigger picture. It is an almost impossible job that we face, but strange things can happen in football.

Chance

"We now move on to Tottenham. We know they will allow us to play and that we will get chance.

"If we can win that game, then we have got Wigan at home and if we win that, maybe you will all write that the Great Escape can happen again as it did four years ago."

Mowbray was pleased for the Baggies' long-suffering supporters as they registered a first victory since the triumph over Middlesbrough by the same scoreline in mid-January.

He said: "The fans have stuck with us through thick and thin and they deserved to see something like that. It was not really vastly different from our performances week-in and week-out."

DEAD AND BURIED

STUART LEWIS came closest to breaking the deadlock as Gillingham's hopes of automatic promotion ended – but Bury's are still alive.

A victory for the Gills would have seen them still with a chance of gate-crashing the top three, but they had to make do with a point despite dominating the clash. Opponents Bury

The first chance fell to Gills when Andy Barcham let fly from just inside the

But opposite number Simon Royce was soon called into action to make a smart save from Glynn Hurst after good link-up play with Andy Bishop.

Bury's front two of Hurst and Bishop combined to create the first opening of the second half for Elliott Bennett, but he was off target.

ROBINHO inspired Mark Hughes' Manchester City to their first away win in the League since August.

The Brazil forward fired through keeper Tim Howard's legs and then created a second goal for Stephen Ireland.

Hughes was delighted with how his record signing performed.

He said: "Robinho has had criticism of his performances away from home, but I thought he was outstanding.

"He's growing in his relationship with Stephen Ireland, I thought they were both fantastic."

Elano's brilliant first-time pass sent compatriot Robinho storming down the left.

He left Phil Jagielka trailing as he smashed the ball home in the 35th minute.

In the 54th-minute Robinho, wide on the left, spotted the on-rushing Ireland and clipped the ball through for Ireland to calmly slot a low shot into the corner.

Worryingly for Everton, with the FA Cup final a month away, Jagielka was then carried off on a stretcher after falling awkwardly and injuring his left knee.

BLOCK PARTY: Frank Lampard pulls the trigger, but the Hammers defence get stuck in

BY JOHNNY GRAY

SALOMON KALOU hit the winner as Chelsea claimed all the points in this big London derby.

Guus Hiddink's Blues warmed up for their Champions League clash against Barcelona with victory courtesy of Kalou's strike and Petr Cech's penalty save.

Kalou struck in the 55th minute, but it needed Cech to save Mark Noble's penalty to keep them ahead and send them into European action in high spirits.

WEST HAM 0 CHELSEA 1

However, the celebrations for Kalou's goal were marred by objects being thrown in the direction of Frank Lampard and John Terry.

After the match West Ham boss Gianfranco Zola committed his future to the club by signing a contract to keep him at Upton Park until 2013.

The Italian said: "I have just signed the contract and I am delighted with that. I'm very pleased." Assistant boss Steve Clarke is expected to seal a new contract to remain Zola's right-hand man.

Penalty

Zola was dissatisfied he couldn't celebrate the news with a point, but added: "It was a good penalty, but unfortunately Cech has made a great save."

"Penalties look easy but from experience, I can say they are not." The Blues started with Didier Drogba, Michael Essien and Michael Ballack on the bench.

Ashley Cole was also among the substitutes and, as he is suspended for the Barca clash, Jose Bosingwa was given a run in the position ahead of facing Lionel Messi.

It was Lampard who created the first chance, in the 16th minute, when he slid the ball through to Florent Malouda – but the Frenchman dragged his shot wide after racing through.

Former Hammer Lampard, with jeers ringing in his ears, had a few sightings on Robert Green's goal.

One volley flashed wide, a second went straight at the West Ham keeper and Noble bravely blocked another.

Chelsea were ahead 10 minutes after the restart.

Lampard wriggled to the byline down the left and floated a cross to the far post.

LIVERPOOL boss Rafael Benitez hailed Dirk Kuyt after the Dutchman's brace turned up the pressure on Man United.

Kuyt celebrated his 100th Premier League appearance with two second-half goals as the title-chasing Reds saw off 10-man Hull.

Liverpool were second best for long periods, but took control after Xabi Alonso fired home in the last minute of the first half.

"He is a fantastic professional and is always working hard to score."

"He was very positive and we are really pleased for him."

Liverpool's performance lacked the intensity of that in Tuesday's 4-4 draw with Arsenal, but Benitez did not feel his side were feeling the after-effects of that classic.

He added: "We were working very hard and we have to be satisfied."

views on the two most controversial incidents of the match.

Hull boss Phil Brown claimed his side had suffered an "injustice" after Javier Mascherano was awarded the free-kick on the edge of the area that led to the opening goal.

Alonso's initial effort from the set-piece struck the wall but the Spaniard lashed the rebound home.

Benitez said: "It was clear. Mascherano was going down and the other player kicked him." Hull saw Caleb Folan sent off just before the hour for kicking Martin Skrtel.

Benitez added: "The sending off was clear but after this, credit to Hull, they played with 10 players and were still pushing."

Brown was even more forthright when discussing the Folan incident, hinting that he was not happy with the Republic of Ireland striker.

Brown said: "I have no excuses for the sending off. I feel it was justified and it will be dealt with in-house. That killed us, 10 against 11, and Caleb made it a little bit easier for them."

He added: "We were having to pick players up at half-time after an injustice was done."

Pulled

"We knew it was going to be tough and somebody has let them off the hook in the first half. I cannot see a free-kick."

Folan was dismissed just before Kuyt made it 2-0. Giovanni pulled one back but Kuyt secured the points two minutes from time. The defeat leaves Hull hovering above the bottom three but their performance should offer encouragement – despite a fixture list that sees them come up against Man Utd, Aston Villa, Stoke and Bolton.

Brown said: "The disappointing thing is that we have kept our best for the best, and we need to keep our best for the teams that are not the best."

"We have got four games and must do the business."

Both sides settled into their stride early on with Blues looking the more menacing in attack – and the first clear-cut opening went their way in the 17th minute. Sebastian Larsson chipped the ball over the North End defence and with Bowyer challenging keeper Andy Lonergan, the ball broke free to Garry O'Connor. With Lonergan out of position, the striker tried his luck from the edge of the area but Billy Jones was on hand to clear. Preston then reminded City of their threat midway through the half when Neil Mellor's cross evaded everyone before coming back off Maik Taylor's far post, Chris Sedgwick firing the rebound into the side netting. In the 57th minute, Fahey lost Sedgwick at the far post before heading home James McFadden's right-wing cross. Matters soon heated up on the pitch as Bowyer and Williamson were shown straight red cards for violent conduct. Then, out of nowhere, North End levelled courtesy of a stunner from McKenna – drilling the ball into the top corner of the goal from 30 yards. Cameron Jerome thought he had won it for Blues only to see his header ruled offside. Wallace stole the show with an 89th-minute free-kick before seeing red as he was booked for the second time for taking off his shirt in celebration. Preston's Sean St Ledger then cleared off the line. STAR OF THE MATCH: Paul McKenna, Preston DONKEY OF THE MATCH: Lee Bowyer, Birmingham

ROB'S HEAD BOY

ROB HULSE'S powerful header earned Derby victory over Charlton which ensured their Championship status. Hulse, who was named Derby's player of the year before kick-off, converted Barry Bannan's header back across goal after 70 minutes for the only goal of a scrappy game. There were few chances in a dour first half, with Martin

Sorry Saints

SOUTHAMPTON 2

SOUTHAMPTON will kick off next season in League One on -10 points following a dramatic draw with Burnley. Saints looked set to end a traumatic week on a high note as they twice led the play-off chasing Clarets through goals from Bradley Wright-Phillips and David McGoldrick. But Graham Alexander pegged them back from the spot and McGoldrick missed a penalty before Clarke Carlisle earned Burnley a point. Saints, who were condemned to relegation on Thursday when the Football League docked them 10 points for going into administration, now cannot finish outside the bottom three. That means they will kick off in the third tier – for the first time since 1960 – 10 points adrift. STAR OF THE MATCH: Robbie Blake, Burnley DONKEY OF THE MATCH: Jan Paul Saeijs, Southampton

BURNLEY 2

POTT IN LUCK

BRISTOL CITY 1 SHEFF WED 1

DARREN POTTER earned Sheffield Wednesday a deserved point with a cracking free-kick. A well-worked 25th-minute goal from Lee Johnson, son of boss Gary, had looked as though it would be enough to give City a first win in seven. The midfielder broke the play up in his own half and shifted the ball on to Gavin Williams, who fed Nicky Maynard. Johnson continued his run and Maynard picked him out to finish coolly. But, with the game drifting towards the final whistle, on-loan Wolves midfielder Potter curled a 20-yard effort beyond the reach of Adriano Basso to earn Brian Laws' men a result worthy of their second-half showing. STAR OF THE MATCH: Marvin Elliott, Bristol City DONKEY OF THE MATCH: Francis Jeffers, Wednesday

BY SIMON STONE

WAYNE ROONEY and Cristiano Ronaldo inspired an astonishing five-goal second-half show to overhaul Tottenham and move three points clear of title rivals Liverpool once more.

Two goals adrift at the interval following close-range strikes by Darren Bent and Luka Modric, United pulled one back through a controversial Ronaldo penalty.

Rooney levelled before Ronaldo's diving header put United in front.

Rooney then grabbed his second and Dimitar Berbatov wrapped up an amazing win late on with a fifth.

Berbatov nearly got on the end of a Darren Fletcher through ball early on before Aaron Lennon's cross found Bent at the far post and Edwin van der Sar had to make the save.

Wilson Palacios escaped with a warning for a crazy two-footed lunge at Ronaldo before Wayne Rooney took too long to get into his favoured right foot as he charged on to Fletcher's pass.

Jermaine Jenas' stray elbow flattened Berbatov, allowing Ronaldo to let fly with a vicious free-kick which bounced awkwardly in front of Heurelho Gomes, who gathered at the second attempt.

Ram

The opener arrived when Vedran Corluka floated a dangerous cross deep into the United box and, when Rio Ferdinand mistimed his header, the ball bounced perfectly for Bent, who lashed home from six yards.

Worse was to follow for United four minutes later when Lennon swung over another cross from the same flank, this time beyond all the United defenders, leaving Modric free to chest down and ram home from close range.

Gomes then reminded the Spurs fans just what he has to offer as he produced a stunning fingertip save to stop Ronaldo's dipping volley.

Sir Alex Ferguson brought on Carlos Tevez for Nani at the break, but it was his two biggest superstars who did the damage. However, United needed a huge slice of luck to near post. Sixty seconds later United were in front. Rooney broke on the left and picked a perfect cross for Ronaldo to head home.

But the Red Devils still weren't finished as Ronaldo picked out Rooney with a far-post cross.

The England striker beat Gomes but it seemed Jon Woodgate would clear, only for the defender to drag the ball over the line as he slid in to block.

Banging

Number five duly arrived 11 minutes from time, Rooney again providing the perfect cross which invited his Bulgarian team-mate to stick the knife in on his former team-mates.

His first header was saved by Gomes, but the Spurs keeper couldn't get off the floor quick enough to stop Berbatov banging home the rebound.

Brett strike makes Blackpool safe

BLACKPOOL striker Brett Ormerod scored against his former club as the Seaside secured Championship survival despite going down to 10 men.

Dexter Blackstock gave Billy Davies' side the lead before Ormerod – who enjoyed a loan spell with Forest during their promotion from League One last season – grabbed the equaliser.

Ian Evatt was sent off in the 67th minute to ensure a nervy finale at Bloomfield Road but Pool held on for a point which sees them safe.

Forest broke well to take the lead in the ninth minute with their first attack.

The ball was moved down the left and when Chris Cohen dug out a cross to the near post, Blackstock got ahead of the defence to steer a volley past keeper Paul Rachubka from the corner of the six-yard box.

But Ormerod levelled matters on the half-hour when David Vaughan won the ball and picked him out. Ormerod raced clear and drilled a low shot across keeper Paul Smith to find the back of the net. Evatt gave Blackpool a tense finish when he saw red with 20 minutes to play. Joe Garner was played clear and Evatt cynically hauled him down to leave referee Jon Moss with no option but to send him off.

Rachubka made a brilliant save from Cohen's free-kick and Pool held on.

TRACTOR BOYS ARE KEANE TO IMPRESS

CARDIFF 0
IPSWICH 3

ROY KEANE picked up a superb victory on his first afternoon as Ipswich boss to ruin the last ever regular-season Championship game at Ninian Park for Cardiff.

Pablo Counago bagged the opener 10 minutes before half-time to put Ipswich in charge after Ross McCormack's penalty miss for Cardiff.

Ivan Campo was judged to have fouled Roger Johnson in the area as he defended a set-piece and referee Scott Mathieson pointed to the spot.

McCormack missed a spot-kick in last weekend's 6-0 thrashing at Preston and was the villain from the spot again as former England goalkeeper Richard Wright pulled off a top-class save.

Beautiful

But the Tractor Boys were ahead when Counago drove high into Tom Heaton's net from Jon Stead's right-wing cross.

Stead was involved again as Ipswich went two up in the 51st minute.

He shook off two men and laid the ball off to David Norris on the edge of the area, and he hit a beautiful right-foot drive into the far corner past Heaton.

Stead then grabbed a deserved goal for himself to set the seal on a top-class display in the 89th minute.

Campo hit the post with a free-kick from 25 yards but, when the rebound fell to Stead, he made no mistake from four yards out to ensure that Cardiff must wait to confirm their place in the play-offs.

SPOT OF BOTHER

Harry's fury but United stroll

BY MATT JOHNSON

HARRY REDKNAPP was livid after a shocking blunder from referee Howard Webb at Old Trafford last night.

A sparkling first half display from Spurs had handed Redknapp's men a 2-0 lead at the break with goals from Darren Bent and Luka Modric.

But Webb handed United a remarkable lifeline with a shocking penalty decision on 56 minutes.

The Premier League's top referee decided that Heurelho Gomez had brought down Michael Carrick when the keeper had clearly pushed the ball wide as the United midfielder had powered into the box.

And in that moment the game turned and after Cristiano

Ronaldo stepped up to slot home the penalty, Spurs lost their heads and allowed United to stroll their way to a resounding 5-2 win with two goals each for Ronaldo and Wayne Rooney and one for Dimitar Berbatov.
